STAGE LINES WILL RETAIN THEIR STANDS

Police Commission Will Allow Operators to Continue Using Present Termini on City Streets Here

MANY MERCHANTS PRESENT VIEWS

Change in Existing Arrangements Would Result in Loss of Large Amount of Business, They Declare

MOTOR stages and busses will be permitted to retain their present termini on the streets in the business area of the city.

This decision was reached by the City Police Commissioners yesterday at their meeting at the police station, when they approved the portion of the Streets Traffic and Regulation By-Law, Amendment By-Law, 1928, which grants to stage and bus lines certain space on various streets of the city for use as termini.

The commission had before it letters from thirty-six merchants who protested against the removal of the motor stages and busses from their present premises on the streets. To alter the existing arrangements would result in the loss of a large amount of business to merchants they claimed. The commission was asked to find some way of dealing with traffic that would not act in restraint of trade or drive away much-needed business.

Following the reading of these communications, Mayor J. C. Pendray stated, "I think we have the feeling of the merchants that they don't want a bus depot here."

OPPOSES PRINCIPLE

Commissioner W. E. Stainland declared that he personally was opposed to the principle of proprietary rights for operators of motor stages or busses on the streets.

"A great many businesses, however, would be affected by a change, and many of these letters we have before us indicate that the merchants depend largely for their business upon the trade brought to the city by these stages and busses. I feel we should carry on as at present until such time as the congestion of traffic becomes so severe that we must take steps to alter the existing arrangements," Mr. Staneland stated.

The commissioner recalled that he had already stated that the commission did not intend to use any coercion in the matter. He strongly favored a central bus depot, and believed it was the proper thing for a city like Victoria. He felt assured that in the course of time that the busses and stages would be glad to utilize a stage and bus depot.

LETTERS FROM MERCHANTS

The thirty-six merchants who wrote the commission, requesting that the stages and busses be allowed to retain their present street termini were as follows: Stevenson's Chocolates, 725 Yates Street; A. E. Taylor & Company, 718 Yates Street; Frank Mann, 609 View Street; Pilmley & Ritchie, Limited, 611 View Stret; Bowes' Drug Store, 1121 Government Street; J. Baron, 1124 Government Street; Murphy Electric Company, 722 Yates Street; Sylvester Feed Company, 709 Yates Street;

VIEWS DIFFER UPON ARAB WAR

London Officials Inclined to Regard Ibn Saud's Threat as Manoeuvre to Get Subsidy

FRONTIER REPORTS LESS REASSURING

LONDON, March 8.—British officialdom, with characteristic English calm, tonight viewed the "holy war" in Arabia with less concern. But dispatches from the district near the head of the Persian Gulf painted a different picture.

Official observers gave out a report that Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz and Sultan of the Nejd, was planning a visit to Mecca. They pointed out that the Wahabis are not friendly toward the holy city of Mohammedanism and deduced that Ibn Saud was not likely to leave Reyadh, his capital, in the centre of Arabia, if there was any immediate prospect of putting his own forces into the field. This estimate was easily coupled with previous analysis of Ibn Saud's character, which made him out as more anxious for restoration of his yearly subsidy from the British Government than for extension of his domain.

JEWISH LEADER GIVES VIEW OF MOTIVE INSPIRING THREAT OF WAR

Simple Children of Desert Wilderness Desire to Be Bought Off, He Declares

MONTREAL, March 8.—Ittamara Ben-Avi, leader of the Young Conservative party in Palestine, and editor of two Jerusalem newspapers, declared in an interview here today that in all probability there would be no war in Arabia. "All the Arabian tribes are interested in money," said the Jewish leader, "and this latest move is only begun with the idea of obtaining money for neutrality.

"The Arab tribes can never be depended upon, and their neutrality may be bought for a time with gold as it was in the Great War; but when the gold ceases they threaten to start a revolution.

"The Wahabis are playing for money. This row will prove to Great Britain that the policy inaugurated by Mr. Lloyd George, together with the Balfour declaration in 1917, namely, to establish a Jewish state in Palestine, was a real stroke of genius. All Jews in Palestine will, as one man, join any British army in its fight against the Wahabis."

Country Owes Much To Staff of C.N.R. Mr. Guthrie States

OTTAWA, March 8.—Hon. Hugh Guthrie, House leader of the Conservative opposition last session, charged the Finance Minister and the Minister of Railways today with endeavoring to appropriate to themselves credit due to Sir Henry Thornton. They were endeavoring to bask in the reflected glory of the president of the Canadian National. Mr. Guthrie declared. He thought Sir Henry and the board of management of the Canadian National Railways should be congratulated upon the splendid showing they had made during the past year. Net earnings of the Canadian National had increased $125,000,000 in four years — $125,000,000 which formerly had to be withdrawn from the treasury of the Dominion.

$63,500 VOTE ON PUBLICITY IS CRITICIZED

Mr. Pooley Brands Proposal to Spend $20,000 in Home Advertising Political Pie

PLAN FOUND FULL OF POSSIBILITIES

House Leader of Conservatives Recalls Imminence of an Election in British Columbia

A VOTE of $63,500 for general publicity—an increase of $24,800 over the sum spent by the province last year—was criticized by Mr. R. H. Pooley, Leader of the Opposition, during consideration of estimates in the House yesterday.

Referring to the imminence of an election, Mr. Pooley called the proposal to spend $20,000 in advertising British Columbia within British Columbia "political pie."

Premier MacLean outlined the publicity plans of the present year. About $6,500 would be expended on advertising hunting and game attractions of the province in the Old Country and the Eastern United States and Canada. The object was to attract more big game hunters who constitute a valuable source of revenue.

About $7,000 would be spent in the printing and distribution to all parts of the world of pamphlets setting forth the natural resources and business opportunities in the province.

TO IMPROVE CREDIT

The sum of $25,000 would be spent in advertising in financial journals of the Old Country and Canada so that the credit of the province would be improved by dissemination of the facts regarding the possession of natural resources to back up bonds offered for sale, and in advertising in British Columbia. Regarding general advertising in the province, the Premier said, a deputation of weekly and daily newspapers had waited on the Government not long ago pointing out the general lack of knowledge about British Columbia on the part of British Columbia people themselves and the necessity, for example, of impressing the people with the advantages of the province as not being inferior to the advantages of any other part of the world. More advertising would tend to keep the youth of the province at home. The Premier confessed himself sympathetic to that proposal, declaring that he was a firm believer in the value of advertising.

About $2,000 would be spent on the Public Service Bulletin, Premier MacLean said.

Mr. Pooley declared he thought $2,000 or $3,000 would be sufficient to spend in advertising in financial journals.

Of the $25,000 he had mentioned, $5,000 would be used for that purpose, Premier MacLean said.

SEES POSSIBILITIES

No doubt the other $20,000 would be used in an effort to cram down the throats of the people what a fine Liberal administration they had had for the past twelve years, Mr. Pooley commented. Considering the manner in which the people had suffered under the rod of this Government for those twelve years, he did not think that many of them would be convinced. The vote would be a great help to the smaller papers in the outlying districts, Mr. Pooley said. He could see wonderful possibilities in the proposal.

It was amusing to see the system of printing the estimates changed at this juncture, the Opposition leader went on. Instead of having details, as under the old system, the House was furnished with a record of just one lump sum.

"The expenditures will be lost in the shuffle," he predicted. "The whole matter will be sunk without trace."

The vote carried.

Great Decrease in Number of Persons Departing for U.S.

TORONTO, March 8.—Indications that the number of Canadians leaving Ontario for the United States considerably decreased in 1927 compared with the previous year, are given in the report of the registrar-general, which has been presented to the Legislature. A drop of 15,000 is shown.

SAMOANS RELEASED

APIA, British Samoa, March 8.—The four hundred Samoans who were imprisoned for six months' sentences on February 28, after they were convicted of attempting to enforce a boycott of European stores here as a means of embarrassing the Government, were ordered released yesterday by Sir George Richardson, administrator, and instructed to return home and cooperate with loyal natives in upholding the laws of the Government.

The administrator stated as his term of office is shortly to expire, it was his wish that one of his last official acts be the extending of clemency to the imprisoned natives. The administrator said he is to leave for Geneva soon.

Trouble between the natives and the New Zealand Government had its beginning in the natives' demand for more representation, and some white traders' agitation against prohibition.

Premier Hertzog Claims Right to Remain Neutral

CAPETOWN, S.A., March 8.—Premier Hertzog, in a dramatic speech in the House of Assembly today, disputed the claim that the Dominions are bound to join Great Britain in the event of war.

The Premier declared that the last Imperial Conference had admitted the Dominions to an independent status, and that each Dominion was the sole judge of its cooperation within the Empire. The Dominions could be neutral if they wished, in the event of war, he asserted.

IMMIGRATION INQUIRY OPEN

Deputy Minister Informs Ottawa Committee That Medical Inspectors Are Under Another Head

INVESTIGATION HAS WIDE SCOPE

OTTAWA, March 8.—Continuing his evidence before the House Committee inquiring into immigration and the Immigration Department, Mr. W. J. Egan, Deputy Minister, stated that the work of overseas medical inspection of immigrants is not under the Department of Immigration but under the Department of Health.

Mr. Egan said that the idea was to avoid people being examined by the doctors in the Old Country, and on arrival at a Canadian port probably being rejected on re-examination.

The Immigration Department had nothing to do with the medical inspectors overseas, nor with inaugurating the policy. The doctors were administered by the Department of Health. Mr. Egan explained how the department first came to employ a roster of doctors in the United Kingdom, which was when the assisted passage scheme came into being. There were now 334 places of examination by the Canadian doctors overseas, and it was not necessary for any immigrant to go more than five or six miles for examination. In remoter parts roster doctors were still employed, but the proportion of prospective immigrants examined by them was relatively small.

Mr. Egan said there was no medical examination in the case of Americans wishing to come to Canada.

SCOPE OF INQUIRY

The parliamentary inquiry into immigration and the Immigration Department, by the standing committee on agriculture and colonization, was begun here today. The chairman of the committee is W. F. Kay, Liberal, Brome-Missisquoi. The terms of the reference are wide and bring the whole immigration act and regulations attached to it under survey. The reference reads:

"That the Immigration Act and regulations thereunder, and the general subject of immigration, including the work of the Department of Immigration and Colonization, be referred to the committee on agriculture and colonization for consideration and report."

WOMEN LOST IN ALASKA WILDS

LAST DOG TEAM LEFT IN HOLY CROSS GOES IN SEARCH OF PARTY

Travelers Not Heard of Since Leaving on 100-Mile Journey on February 27

HOLY CROSS, Alaska, March 8.—With the last dog team in this western Alaska village, Dementieff left Holy Cross today in search of two women, reported missing on the frozen tundra of a treacherous portage between the Yukon and the Kuskokwim Rivers, southwest of here. Mrs. E. Forrest, wife of a former superintendent of the Bureau of Education in the Indian schools, and Miss B. Leake, a nurse at the Akiak government hospital, left Bethel, 100 miles southwest of here, for Holy Cross on February 27. They have not been heard from since. The journey is considered one of the most dangerous in Alaska, because one must cross many large lakes and fifty miles of sheiterless windswept country.

The administrator stated as his term of office is shortly to expire, it

UNIVERSITY WELCOMES VISITATION

Premier MacLean Suggests Legislature Should Make Official Call at Institution at Point Grey

FEW GRADUATES GO TO UNITED STATES

Of $781,000 Maintenance, Apart From Capital Outlay, $566,000 Is Sought From State

IN consedering the vote for the University of British Columbia in Committee of Supply yesterday, the suggestion was made by the Premier, as the Minister of Education, that the members should take the opportunity of visiting the Institution, and advising themselves upon what was being done. Further, he offered the suggestion, that at the opening of the next session of the House the president of the university should be asked to come to Victoria and, at a gathering of the members, go into all the details of the work being done there.

The Premier said that he would not be averse to following this course with respect to the matter this session, only he felt that the members were now getting tired, and might not be in a mood to go into the matter as outlined.

Mr. W. F. Kennedy manifested a disposition to know where the students of the university gravitated after graduation.

In replying the Premier said that there was a disposition that was increasing for them to go into various lines of business in the province. An increasing number of students was finding places in the big concerns. This was in line with the general tendency as noted in the American universities. More trained men were constantly in demand.

FUTURE OF GRADUATES

As a matter of fact the Premier said these graduates found their way in every conceivable line of business. Only fifty-seven of the 747 that graduated from 1916 to 1924 had gone to the United States to take positions. There were, in addition to this, twenty-eight other graduates that were in various universities of the United States taking up research work in different universities, but they were only temporarily out of the country.

The record of the university was given by the Premier, who explained that in 1915 there were only 379 students, while today there were no less than 1,740 in attendance. The university was the fourth largest in Canada in the matter of arts, and second largest in the line of applied science.

In addition to the students that were given above there was the additional number of 496 attending the Summer sessions.

As to the origin of the students it was pointed out that Greater Vancouver furnished 1,150 students; other parts of the Province 550; the rest of Canada twelve, and other countries nine.

The students came from homes where the parents represented 191 trades and occupations. Of these homes 154 were those where the parents were classified under the heading of trades; ninty-three as merchants; fifty as teachers.

COST OF INSTITUTION

Coming to the actual cost of the institution, aside from the capital expenditures required, the Premier pointed out that this year there was being asked $781,000. Of this the Government was to provide $566,000. Students' fees would account for

Cutter Britannia To Become Cruiser King Has Decided

LONDON, March 8.—King George has definitely decided that this shall be the last year that his famous old racing cutter Britannia shall be put into commission. At the end of the regatta season the yacht will be reconverted for cruising purposes, for which His Majesty will utilize it in future. When this takes place a very notable chapter in the history of British yacht racing will close. Built on the Clyde some forty years ago, the Britannia holds the distinction of being able to hoist more winning pennants than any other yacht in the world. It has, moreover, carried off a larger sum in prize money in the course of a single year than any British yacht in the whole history of the sport.

Air Forces of Empire Are to Be Co-ordinated

LONDON, March 8. — Considerable progress has been made in the matter of co-operation with the air force of the Dominion, in order to secure identity of methods in the training of the Empire air forces, Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for Air, announced today in connection with the air force estimates. He stated that there would be a regular scheme of interchange between the Royal Air Force and the Canadian and Australian Air Forces.

The flying power of the Royal Air Force would be increased from sixty-nine to seventy-three squadrons, the Air Minister stated. The coming year's developments would be principally overseas.

ABSENTEE VOTE BILL BLOCKED

Opposition Continue Argument for Select Committee to Settle Details Rather Than Whole House

ITINERANT VOTERS MAY NUMBER 10,000

The Legislature went into the Elections Act again last night for a short time without reaching any solution with respect to an amendment acceptable to all on the absentee vote.

The Attorney-General wanted the House to endorse the principle of the bill, which he described as that of a desire to amend the act. That done, he favored the consideration of the bill in committee of the whole House, or by a select committee of that committee if advisable.

The Opposition, however, did not favor the endorsement of the principle of the bill until an acceptable amendment was forthcoming, which could only be done, as Mr. W. F. Kennedy said, after the select committee had gone into the matter and reported.

This idea of a select committee to grapple with the subject was suggested early in the history of the bill by Mr. R. W. Bruhn from the Conservative side, and endorsed strongly by Colonel Peck and other speakers on the Opposition side.

The debate was again adjourned.

The Attorney-General argued that on a question like this all feeling of partizanship should be sunk. The consideration on the second reading was really that of amending the Elections Act. It was that, and that alone that was the principle involved. It became a question later how it would be amended. The Government was not pledged to any particular form.

EFFECT 10,000 VOTERS

He contended that in British Columbia the advanced poll did not fit in as well as in some other parts. The loggers, the miners an the fishermen altered their place of living with the seasons. The desire was to give these men the chance to exercise the franchise.

He argued that an advanced poll would only take care of perhaps 300 in the Province. The itinerant voters would represent perhaps 10,000 voters.

Equal Franchise Bill Will Be Introduced in British House, Monday

Premier Baldwin Makes Announcement to Vast Assembly of Women—Within Few Weeks, He Tells Them, Parliament Will Grant Complete Equality With Men as Electors

No Grounds in Logic, Justice or Expediency for Withholding Right:

LONDON, March 8.—Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the first British Prime Minister to appear before an equal suffrage meeting, promised a vast assembly of women, representing 140 organizations, tonight, that "in a few weeks" Parliament would grant them complete equality with men in voting privileges. This declaration was received with cheering by the women, who had met to celebrate the success of their bitter fight, extending over nearly 100 years.

"I have selected the Home Secretary to be the Joshua who shall lead you into the promised land," said Premier Baldwin, indicating that Sir William Joynson-Hicks would have charge of the franchise bill. Agreeing with Disraeli, who was one of the earliest statesmen to favor full rights of citizenship for women, the Prime Minister asserted that there were no grounds in logic, justice or expediency to withhold the franchise from one sex more than the other. Mr. Baldwin announced that the franchise bill will be introduced in the House of Commons Monday. It will pass its second reading before Easter and will be completed at the earliest possible date.

DAMAGE CLAIMS TO BE ENTERED

Attorneys for Owners of Steamer Coal Harbor Make Announcement of Application to Court

MIXED COMMISSION EXPECTED TO JUDGE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Attorneys for owners of the British steamer Coal Harbor announced they would go to court next Monday to clear the vessel of the libel action filed by the Government after the coastguard seized the Coal Harbor and her liquor cargo off the Farallones in 1925.

A jury in the United States district court yesterday returned a verdict saying the steamer was beyond United States jurisdiction at the time of the seizure. Attorneys said they would defer appeal to the British Government to intervene until efforts to free the ship by court action here had been tried. Damage claims, they declared, would go before a mixed commission appointed by the United States and British Governments.

OTTAWA, March 8.—Squadron Leader J. H. Tudhope, who is in charge of air mail service for the civil aviation branch of the Department of National Defence, arrived here at 3:30 p.m., completing a flight from Halifax, N.S.

Major Tudhope left Halifax yesterday morning and running into a heavy snowstorm, while crossing the State of Maine, was forced to land at Lakeview, Maine, where he spent the night.

Taking off this morning, he arrived at Megantic, Que., at 10:45 a.m., and left shortly after noon, completing the flight to Ottawa at 3:30 p.m. He did not stop at Montreal.

MAGISTRATE SHAW'S DECISION STANDS

VANCOUVER, March 8.—The Court of Appeals was unanimous in its dismissal today of an appeal from Magistrate H. C. Shaw's decision in police court that the scheme launched by J. D. Tait, managing director of Post 60, Canadian Legion Building, Limited, was a lottery. The magistrate's conviction of Tait and fine of $50 stands.

In anouncing the court's decision, Chief Justice J. A. MacDonald said:

"While this court has no desire to reflect unduly on these people, the evidence has convinced me that it was not a genuine scheme. It is not necessary to say it was fraudulent, but it was certainly not a scheme which was within the criminal code. The appeal is dismissed."

HOUSE OF BISHOPS COMPLETE REVISION

LONDON, March 8.—The House of Bishops of the Church of England, which has been considering the revised prayer book in strict secrecy for the past three days, adjourned tonight until March 15, when the amended proposals, as finally decided on, will be made public. It was not revealed what alterations, if any, had been made by the bishops of the book as the Houses of Clergy and Laity left it.

Scene at Delhi

NEW DELHI, India, March 8.—Motilal Nehru, leader of the Swaraj-ist movement for Indian self-government, created a scene in the Legislative Assembly today by accusing the British authorities with allowing Indian troops in China to supplement their pay by looting poor Chinese. His accusation was met with angry shouts, some of the members calling upon him to "withdraw the foul slander." This Nehru refused to do, adding that Indians were being used against their wishes to humiliate the nationals of another country.

Wreck of Plane Looted by Native Near St. Pierre

NEW YORK, March 8.—A letter received at the local office of the French Cable Company today told of an investigation by French authorities in the North Atlantic, which it was believed, might clear up the mystery surrounding one of last Summer's aviation tragedies.

The letter relates that on returning to St. Pierre on March 4, from Landen Island, Captain Bechet had reported to the authorities that an inhabitant there had tried to put on board 700 brass screws. Asked where he had procured them the native replied that he had found a plane on the northwest side of the island and had dismantled it for the screws. Captain Bechet, who was the master of the steamer, wrote his son that French authorities were to begin an investigation to determine, if possible, the identity of the wrecked plane and establish whether it was one of those that disappeared last year while attempting transatlantic flights.

ESTIMATES FOR POLICE PASSED

PROPOSED EXPENDITURES TOTAL $101,570—ARE LESS THAN LAST YEAR'S

Purchase of New Motor Car and New Motorcycle Provided For in Figures

The 1928 estimates of the Victoria Police Commission, as finally approved by the commission at its meeting yesterday, total $101,570.

After the estimates had been passed, Commissioner W. E. Staneland said. "The estimates are slightly higher than the expenditures of last year, and the increase is due to the purchase by the commission of a new motor car and a new motorcycle with sidecar, and a few advances in salaries."

Mayor J. C. Pendray said: "We are under our estimates of last year by $500."

The commission's 1927 estimates were $102,076, while the actual expenditures during the year totaled $98,485.39. When the 1928 police estimates were first presented to the commission several weeks ago, the draft called for an expenditure of $103,720, and yesterday this amount was reduced to $101,570.

The 1928 estimates of the Police Department are made up the following: Telephones, $700; salaries, $81,950, contingencies, $600; clothing, $3,000; keep of prisoners, $3,000, interpreters' fees, $250; inquests, $1,000; fuel and light, $1,500; motor cycle patrols, $750; new motorcycle and sidecar, $700; motor patrols, $700; new motor car, $1,220; secret service, $750; transportation of prisoners, $1,250; printing, $500, witness fees, $250; furniture, $200; buildings, $250; sundries, $2,000, and signs, $1,000; total, $101,570.

The commission decided to purchase from the McRae-Meldram Motors a 1928 Oakland four-door sedan automobile to replace the Chevrolet car now used by the plain clothes department. The cost of the new car is $1,770, and an allowance of $550 will be given for the Chevrolet, so that the total cost to the commission will be $1,220.

Mr. W. A. Sprinkling's tender of $1,283.50 for the supply of police uniforms, was accepted by the board.

EMPIRE SHOPPING WEEK APRIL 21-28

Posters Issued and Advance Copies of Striking Industrial Lithographs Arrive

The local committee has agreed to bring its days for observing Empire Shopping Week into harmony with the national week in Canada, and the event will therefore be held April 21 to 28.

This will be the third occasion upon which the Victoria consumers have been invited to participate, but the movement nationally in the Dominion is of more recent date.

Posters have been issued, and some advance copies—striking lithographs of Empire industrial scenes—have already arrived. The supply will be distributed from the Empire Marketing Board through the agency of the British trade commissioners in Canada.

A statement on the subject has been issued by the chairman for Canada, Mr. C. L. Burton, Toronto, from which the following is taken:

"The purpose of Empire Shopping Week is to replace the imports of foreign products with Empire products and to strengthen the ties of Empire. The acknowledged underlying principle is that the products of the country in which the week is held are favored first in purchases, then the products of other parts of the Empire.

"Before and during Empire Shopping Week in Canada an intensive educational appeal will be made to Canadians through the public press from coast to coast to enlist their active support for the purposes set forth."

The executive committee is raising a fund of $80,000 to finance the project in this Dominion. The sum of $68,000 will be appropriated for newspaper and periodical publicity, and $12,000 for dealer co-operation material and incidental expenses.

UNIVERSITY WELCOMES VISITATION

another $190,000, and from miscellaneous sources there would be another $25,000.

The Legislature was being asked for $28,000 more than was sought last year.

In explanation of the situation the statement was made, that when the university was under way it had been expected that 1,400 students would have been all for which provision would have to be made. With the increasing tendency to acquire higher education this figure had been altered, and there was an ever increasing number which had to be provided for.

In connection with the additional expenditures for this year, the Minister explained that with the increases in the number of students there had to be some $5,000 spent in rearranging the library to meet the increase. The same problem arose in the Science rooms, and another $3,000 was needed in that. Shelter for the students while awaiting the vans that carried them from the University was also needed, requiring another expenditure of from $3,000 to $4,000.

The division of the students according to the courses that they were taking was given as 1,300 in arts and science; 240 in applied science, fifty in agriculture and sixty-two in teacher training. In this latter connection he pointed out that this work was to fit those that were seeking to enter the teaching profession in the high schools. The teachers for the elementary schools were trained in the normal schools.

FEES CHARGED

Dealing with the matter of the fees that were charged the students in the University, it was stated by the Premier that the University at the date of its establishment started out with an idea of idealism, and no fees were to be charged. It was found, however, that this province was not wealthy enough as yet for such a course, and they had adopted the plan that generally prevailed among the universities. The fees, he said, were now, in arts, $100 a year, which was the highest rate in Canada; but he added that the increased fee had not had the least effect in the attendance at the institution. In the branch of applied science the fee was $150, which was not the highest in Canada. In agriculture the fee was $100, and in teacher training it was $60.

The matter of endowments was alluded to by the Premier, who said that British Columbia had not been very fortunate in the matter of getting grants from private parties for the work. There was beginning to be an appeal along this line, and one resident had donated $18,000 a year for a number of years, and it was hoped it might be continued; another had given $12,000 in his will and a valuable collection of South Seas curios had also come to it from private quarters.

There had already been 1,428 degrees conferred by the University.

Mr. R. W. Bruhn asked how much each student was costing.

The Premier said that this was hard to figure out. He said that it might be figured out on the fact that there was $738,000 a year spent, with a graduation list of about 250.

Mr. G. A. Walkem gave the figures of last year as $566,000 of a cost to the Government, and 203 graduates.

JAPAN HAS MILK SCANDAL

Japan has had a clean-up of its milk scandal and as a result more than 150 dairymen and veterinaries were fined and a number of milk dealers and doctors are facing loss of their licences. Dr. Keitaro Nozu, professor of Tokio Imperial University, may be disqualified by the officials for his part in the affair. The scandal involved desperate attempts on a wholesale scale to prevent tubercular cows from being discovered. The milk from these cows is believed to have caused the death of a number of babies.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves the congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you, or money back. MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co., and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee. (Advt.)

VIEWS DIFFER UPON ARAB WAR

raids on the frontiers. Airplanes, armored cars and transport cars have been stationed outside the walls of Kowelt, ready for a dash to any threatened point, and marines and bluejackets from a British man-of-war are patrolling the streets daily.

Unconfirmed reports have reached Basra that the western edge of the desert is already blazing with desert warfare, with several villages in Transjordania captured and looted by Wahabis. But nothing of that sort came from points nearer the scene. All officers and men of the Transjordania garrisons who are on leave have been recalled, frontier patrols have been strengthened, and armored cars and air reinforcements moved into the territory.

MOTOR ROUTE CLOSED

Another report said that the motor route across the desert from Bagdad to Damascus had been closed. This is the first indication that disorders were threatened that far north, although part of the route is within reach of raiders who may dash across the Arabian frontier.

JERUSALEM, March 8.—The Palestine Government announced tonight that rumors that Ibn Saud had formally declared a "holy war" against the Mohammedans of Kowelt, Irak and Transjordania lacked confirmation.

IMMIGRATION INQUIRY OPEN

The larger part of the first sitting was devoted to the evidence given by W. J. Egan, Deputy Minister of Immigration, who explained the workings of the department in the United States, the British Isles and Continental Europe.

The Deputy Minister emphasized that the department had no contracting agreement with any public or private bodies, but that various organizations co-operated with the department in bringing immigrants to Canada. W. J. Egan stated that one commissioner presided over each of the three districts in the Dominion.

YOUNG CHILDREN

Mr. Egan said that children under fourteen were not admitted as immigrants unless accompanied by their parents. This had been in force for three years and followed the report of Margaret Bondfield, and representations from many social interests in Canada. In general, the regulation was made due to the fact that the children were being exploited in a very general way. There was no minimum age for a child coming into Canada, but he would not accept a child of twelve who was coming to Canada alone. Children coming to friends, however, were admitted.

Hon. Mr. Forke said that he would use his judgment as to admitting children for placement. He regarded immigrants as the wards of the department.

Mr. Cahan asked by what authority Mr. Forke had this discretion, to which the minister replied that the act gave him considerable authority in this case.

In Esquimalt Court

In the Esquimalt Police Court yesterday, Lieutenant Adams, of the Naval Barracks, pleaded guilty through Chief of Police John Acreman, to a charge of failing to produce a driver's licence when driving his automobile, and was fined $5.

UNION IS KEYNOTE

VANCOUVER, March 7.—"One great united organization for returned men" was the keynote struck at the opening ceremony of the new headquarters of the G.A.U.V. Branch No. 77, Canadian Legion, at 153 Hastings Street West. John Kelly, president of the branch, was in the chair, being supported by Mayor Louis D. Taylor, Lieut.-Col. W. W. Foster, D.S.O., provincial president, Canadian Legion; Lieut.-Col. W. S. Buell, C.B.E., provincial honorary treasurer, Canadian Legion, and George P. Parr, vice-president of the branch.

Referring to the good work done by the late Earl Haig in getting returned men's organizations closer together, the president expressed the opinion that more should yet be done. He believed that one great organization would make for more efficiency and would be the means of largely cutting down the overhead.

ABSENTEE VOTE BILL BLOCKED

Mr. Manson said wrong doing at elections was becoming less. With most of the electors honest why not get something that was comparatively safe?

"Pass upon the general question that the act shall be amended," he argued and then decide in committee of the whole or by a sub-committee. He thought it might be found wise, not only to have the travelers' certificates, but have also an advanced poll. Each member would naturally watch the amendments to see that they covered the situation as far as allowing all the voters in his constituency to vote.

SMALLER BODY BETTER

Mr. W. F. Kennedy said that a committee could work this out with the same careful thought that the various standing committees gave the subjects before them.

He, however, thought the members at this stage could not say whether or not they wanted the act changed until the committee presented its views.

Mr. R. H. Pooley said he had been led to believe that a committee was to be appointed to take this up. He did not approve, therefore, of going on with further discussion. He suggested that the special committee might go into the matter and the debate stand adjourned in the name of the Attorney-General.

The debate was accordingly adjourned.

Legal Dispute Is Aired at Saanich Council Meeting

Legal difficulty arose over the change in the width of Tudor Avenue, Cadboro Bay, at last night's meeting of the Saanich Council.

Five residents protested, through their solicitor, Mr. Wooton, against a proposed by-law which they claimed would give a Mr. T. Golby seven feet of a forty-foot road, thus reducing the width to thirty-three feet.

Mr. Golby's fence, as situated, gives the road a thirty-three-foot width, but does not run parallel with the fence on the other side. Mr. Golby proposes to straighten his fence, which would add to the width of the road. He also proposes to donate a portion of his property to Mr. Stewart Williams so as to allow construction of a cottage on Mr. Williams' present property.

Mr. Wooton, on behalf of his clients, pointed out to the council that the road was vested in the rights of the King and that the plans showed a forty-foot road. The council, in granting Mr. Golby seven feet of the road, would be usurping the rights of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council and would be giving the residents only a thirty-three-foot road, which was only half the width of a legal highway.

Mr. Golby replied that the plans had never been signed and that the survey of his property, showing the present road boundary, was the oldest in the district.

Reeve Crouch advised the deputation that the by-law would be given reconsideration.

PLAN TO CHECK ROBBER GAME

Doom of Big-Horned Owl Is Forecast When Next Fiscal Year Begins — Menace to Game Birds

COST OF BOUNTIES TO THE PROVINCE

The subject of the depredations of various forms of wild life upon the farmers of the province was aired in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, when the vote dealing with the appropriations for bounties was up. During the progress of the debate the part which the black bear plays in the game was made the subject of discussion and it became a matter of opinion whether in the settled parts of the province the black bear should not fall a prey to anyone who chose to shoot him.

The Attorney-General promised that the big-horned owl, which had been the cause of a lot of trouble and whose extermination as far as possible has been urged repeatedly by Major A. Lyons and Mr. R. H. Pooley, should fall under the bounty provisions as soon as the new estimates came into effect with the opening of the fiscal year.

The assurance was also given by the Attorney-General that there was every prospect that the suggestion of the leader of the Opposition in connection with the allowing of the breeding of game fowl would be carried out, which would lessen the expenditures of the province in this line.

Under the heading of game protection the question of bounties was discussed at some length. In reply to Mr. R. W. Bruhn the Attorney-General said he was inclined to believe the appropriation for bounties had been exhausted. It was possible something would have to be done to take care of the combating of the big-horned owl.

350 COUGARS

Mr. R. H. Pooley, under the head of cougar killing, referred to a hunter on Vancouver Island that had 350 of these animals to his credit, and who was not employed by the Game Board.

He also, on behalf of the residents of Metchosin, called attention to the ravages complained of by black bear on the sheep flocks. The farmers asked the right to shoot these bear at any time.

Hon. E. D. Barrow asked about the ravages of dogs.

Mr. Pooley replied the farmers did not complain of these; they did of bear and cougars. Mr. Pooley said the black bear was harmless except along the line of killing farm animals.

The Attorney-General called attention to children being frightened by the bears in the North. He thought the killing of these bears in settled districts might be allowed.

Mr. C. A. Davie held the same opinion.

Mr. J. A. Catherwood said that in his district the Game Board was not consulted. When bears caused trouble people simply killed them.

Mr. W. F. Kennedy remarked that in his district they had not been favored with one-crown, two-crown and three-crown whisky, which perhaps accounted for the fact that they had not been able to see cougars on the city streets.

Mr. H. G. Perry wondered what brand it was they used in the Okanagan that prompted them to see the Ogopogo.

Major A. Lyons did not think that black bear should be allowed protection outside of parts where they might do no harm. He did not favor allowing them to be protected where they would frighten children, or destroy domestic animals.

Major Burde wanted the black bear protected. The cougar was a menace, but did not stay where the black bear was. He took exception to the chairman of the Game Board, and wanted an experienced man in the line of game appointed.

COST OF BOUNTIES

The Attorney-General, going into the expenses, said there was an outlay of $8,000 for cougars; $6,000 for wolves; $15,000 for coyotes; $7,500 for predatory hunters and cougar dogs; and $5,000 for crows.

The game farm cost $6,600 for staff and $1,200 for expenses. He pointed out that in 1922, 17,025 big-horned owls were killed. The raising of the bounty to $1 each would therefore be a serious matter.

The Attorney-General added that the suggestion of the leader of the Opposition with respect to allowing the breeding of game birds on farms, might enable the province to make considerable saving by the method.

Major Lyons asked if the intention was to restore the bounty on the big-horned owl.

The Attorney-General said that it would be done after March 31, when the present estimates came into effect.

During the progress of the discussion the Attorney-General said game reserves were being gradually increased and various kinds of game were being introduced.

Mr. H. D. Twigg asked if there was any objection to transferring fur farming to the Department of Agriculture.

The Attorney-General replied that a good deal was being done along this line. The fur farmer objected to the collection of royalty paid. This had been met by taxing the foxes held in captivity under the ordinary taxation laws.

Legislation would be introduced along this line during the session.

Mr. J. Hinchliffe suggested that the only way to exclude the bears of Alberni from the operation of a proposed licence was to furnish the Alberni bears with some kind of a "traveler's certificate."

Thanksgiving Date

OTTAWA, March 8.—A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, intends to move in the Commons that Thanksgiving Day shall be Armistice Day, November 11.

REGULATIONS ON PARKING STAND

Police Commission Decides Conditions on Broad Street Don't Warrant Change

No change will be made in the parking regulations on Broad Street, the City Police Commission decided yesterday, after receiving reports from Chief of Police John Fry and Traffic Inspector John T. Boulton, concerning the traffic conditions on that thoroughfare.

At is meeting last week, the commission received a letter from P. R. Brown & Sons, who stated that traffic on Broad Street was congested through the parking of delivery wagons on an angle while loading and unloading, and urged that relief be given to drivers of private motor cars. The communication at that time was referred to Chief Fry and Inspector Boulton for report.

CHIEF INVESTIGATES

Chief Fry told the commission yesterday that Inspector Boulton and himself had investigated the matter. "In my opinion," the Chief continued, "conditions such as exist on Broad Street at present, do not warrant any change in parking regulations on that street.

"While it is the case that traffic is a little congested at times, and through traffic may be slowed down or stopped for short periods of time, there seems to be no serious obstruction, and it is my opinion that very little inconvenience is caused any private car which may be stopped to take off or let on passengers any place on Broad Street," Chief Fry reported.

Traffic Inspector Boulton pointed out that any congestion or obstruction caused on Broad Street was the natural result of the extensive business done in the block between View and Fort Streets.

MAKE RECOMMENDATION

On the motion of Commissioner W. E. Staneland, the commission adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, most of the oil and gas stations situated on corners are using a great deal of parking space by reason of the fact that the sidewalks are made flush with the roadway.

"Therefore, be it resolved that we recommend to the City Council that the City Engineer refuse to construct or permit the construction of such approaches without a recommendation from the Board of Police Commissioners."

The commission considered the Streets Traffic and Regulation By-Law, Amendment By-Law, 1928, and after making several amendments to the measure, approved the Amendment By-Law.

NEW BRANCH OF LEGION FORMED

Veterans of Oliver and District Cast Lot With Canadian Legion —Officers Elected

At a well attended gathering of veterans of Oliver and District, held last Monday evening, a branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., was formed. The following provisional officers were appointed: President, R. W. Smith; secretary, T. Roe; executive members, F. Nesbitt, A. J. MacPherson and C. A. C. Steward.

The branch was formed on the unanimous vote of the meeting, after Major W. R. Tweedy, zone representative, C. Bentley, president of the Summerland branch, and Robert Macnicol, provincial secretary, who is making a tour of the Okanagan, had addressed the veterans on the past, present, and future work of the Legion. A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the speakers.

NO HINDRANCE TO DEVELOPING POWER

The limits of Garibaldi Park were extended yesterday by order-in-council to include a mountainous and glacial area of 200 square miles, according to an announcement of Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands.

The added area, Mr. Pattullo explained, contained the Cheakamus River, on which the city of Vancouver had requested that a reserve be maintained. As the city was carrying out investigations in connection with the power possibilities of this stream.

Inclusion of the area in the park, however, would not prevent development of the Cheakamus power, Mr. Pattullo said, as provision for utilization of the stream in this way was contained in the special legislation creating Garibaldi Park.

Declaring that development of the power project would not detract from the beauty of the park in the slightest degree, as the work would be completely lost in the 460 square miles now contained in the park, Mr. Pattullo pointed out that this situation demonstrated the necessity of the bill now before the Legislature conferring greater park administrative authority on the Government.

Were it not that the special Garibaldi Park Act provided machinery for the development of water power, he would not have recommended the extension of the park to include the additional 200 square miles, the minister explained. In view of the existence of this measure, however, it was possible to serve both industrial and park purposes alike

CHAIR LIMITS PAVING PROBE

Mr. Ian Mackenzie Blocks Efforts to Investigate Contracts Let During Current Year

Further inquiry into the contracts let for work in the University of British Columbia area was pursued by Opposition members at yesterday's meeting of the Public Accounts Committee of the House.

Ruling of the chairman, Mr. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal, Vancouver, blocked efforts to investigate contracts let in the current fiscal year to the General Construction Company, successors to A. B. Palmer & Co., Ltd. The chairman held that only payments made in the previous year could come under examination.

In the previous two years the Palmer firm had been paid on three contracts for paving sidewalks, curbs and sewers the sum of $168,-240 by the Lands Department, it was shown. The payments on each of these contracts were lower than the departmental estimates for the work.

An initial contract had been given the Palmer firm at $46,000, estimated on a unit basis, while another contractor named Ledingham had tendered for the work at $44,140. The reason for awarding the work to Palmer at the higher figure, Hon. T. D. Pattullo explained, was that Palmer agreed to have the work done by the end of April, while Ledingham could not guarantee completion for another month. Time, it was explained, was a very important factor, as other work was awaiting the completion of the curbs and paving.

Tenders had not been called for a second contract, an extension of the first one, which had been let to the Palmer Company, Mr. C. A. Pope, accountant for the Lands Department, said.

When Mr. R. H. Pooley, Leader of the Opposition, pursued his inquiries as to what contracts were given to the General Construction Company, the chairman ruled him out of order.

Mr. J. Boyd, of the General Construction Company, said that he had no objection to any member walking into his offices any day and examining the books of the firm with regard to the contract. He wanted it understood that everything was above board. His firm had obtained its contracts in open competition, and the work had been carried out without criticism. The publicity the company was getting was hurting its business.

Neither the prices nor the quality of the work carried out by the firm had been questioned, Mr. H. F. Kergin, Atlin, secretary of the committee, assured Mr. Boyd.

LONDON PAPER'S STORY NOT TRUE

Daily Express Statement Unfounded—Miss E. Mackay Not Going On Any Long Flight

CRANWELL AIRDROME, Eng., March 8.—If Captain Walter G. H. Hinchcliffe, famous British airman, had any intention of taking off today on a nonstop flight across the Atlantic, as has been reported by a London newspaper, there were no indications of it at the airdrome this afternoon.

LONDON, March 8.—Captain Walter Hinchcliffe, British aviator, announced today he is planning a flight from Europe to the United States in May or June, but will first attempt a nonstop flight from England to India as a preliminary test.

The captain thus cleared up the mystery surrounding his plans. The Hon. Elsie Mackay, titled British heiress and widely-known aviatrix, denied that she has any intention of making a long distance flight with Captain Walter Hinchcliffe.

"I am very much annoyed about the whole matter for I have no intention of accompanying Captain Hinchcliffe," Miss Mackay said this afternoon.

THE CULT OF BEAUTY

Lord Byron once wrote: "'Tis very silly to guild refined gold or paint the lily." It would appear that modern feminity is beginning to realize that Mother Nature makes an appeal that connot be resisted, and it is harking back to well and truly tried recipes for the enhancement of its natural charms which formerly it had relegated to the fashions of a bygone age. Not that the beauty doctor is suffering an eclipse. Quite otherwise! The "beauty shoppe" is doing as big a business as ever it was, but methods are changing. The herbalist is supplanting the chemist. For instance, the most up-to-date beauty parlors will have nothing to do with the drying zinc ointments, the poisonous white leads and the mineral preparations of bygone days. There is a distinct return to the use of fresh herbs and vegetables for compounding creams, powders and lotions. Great attention is being paid to the eyes just now. Although dropping belladonna into them is a thing of the past, there are modern lotions for rendering the eyes large and limpid. One beauty specialist makes her mixtures from the natural oil that exudes from certain woods. She uses lotions made from accacia flowers for cleansing and a liquid distilled from elder flowers as an astringent. Even her powder comes from the vegetable kingdom. It is very carefully filtered and delicately perfumed finely-ground oatmeal.

There is much experimenting in the beauty parlors with old recipes from old manuscripts. These are being closely studied, and century-old notions for beauty creams, lotions and "waters" used in the still rooms of our great-grandmothers are being tried again. One recipe recommends ivy berries, young red briar tops, white rose leaves and sage among other ingredients "for clearing the eyes." A recipe for a special cream claimed to have been used by the beautiful Catherine the Great of Russia is the most discussed beautifier in the most recently opened Bond Street beauty salon, which, moreover, advocates honey and water for washing a sensitive skin. Fresh-cut cucumbers must have the bloom still on them, and ripe lemons are bought to suit particular skins. Another beauty doctor specializes in fresh eggs—which must on no account be more than twelve hours old. With these she tones up tired skins and works other dermatic marvels. Cold water is ordered three times a day for brightening and strengthening overworked eyes, and the same cure is recommended for sagging facial muscles.

These apparently simple ideas do not mean a quick and cheap cut to beauty. The new method takes quite as long as the old one. It is just as expensive, too, for it must be done under the supervision of the expert, and time spent in hunting up and experimenting with old-fashioned recipes for beauty is charged for on the bill. With this return to simple notions in the beauty parlors, the fashion in perfumes is changing also. The heavy, exotic scents of the East are vanishing. Lavender, rosemary, Florida water and eau-de-cologne are coming into their own again, and waters distilled from native heaths are finding great favor. Thus woman's quest for beauty goes merrily on and shows no signs of abating. On the other hand, mere man contents himself with the reflection—which, however his womankind do not always endorse—that the average woman needs few factitious aids to increase the charms with which Nature has endowed her, and that, in sober truth, Nature 'knows her own business uncommonly well.

CHINA'S CHILD SLAVES

China, at this moment, is perhaps the most challenging and difficult problem in our world. So difficult, indeed, that its challenge finds with many people but a dull and muffled response, while many more have given up in despair any attempt to thread a way through happenings there, or to understand what appears in the newspapers. As soon as readers have grasped a series of personalities and groupings, a turn comes in the kaleidoscope, and lo! they are dissolved. Yet behind all this one knows that there is another China than this of war—a China of millions of people who must, somehow or other, go on working. That China, Dame Adelaide Anderson, D.B.E., M.A., brings vividly back in her book: "Child Workers of China." And after one has read her book one is not likely to forget again or give up China as beyond comprehension, and therefore, to be completely forgotten.

Dame Anderson accepted a call from Shanghai from the National Christian Council of China, urging her to come and investigate industrial conditions there and advise them on a programme. When she reached China she knew little or nothing of the country and its conditions, but she soon discovered—a point frequently contested—that China had not had so much industrialism forced upon it by foreigners as by "the world-unifying influence of the mechanical age." The early Chinese cotton mills were founded in 1879, 1885 and 1890; the earliest British mills there in 1896. In 1926 the ratio of British to Chinese mills was three to seventy-three. "In various places and in various ways, Chinese leaders do acknowledge national responsibility for their industrial conditions of labor, and this is the beginning of a real advance. It is no help, it is not even a friendly act towards China to speak as if our nationals and other foreigners were responsible for having introduced the factory system into China, or for the tragically low standards of labor, the insanitation, the excessive hours and the low wages which obtain. As well might they claim responsibility for the terrible general mortality and morbidity rates that grip the Chinese people. These are due to general ignorance of biological laws and to absence in China of modern administration of Public Health."

The first effort to apply reform to the non-humanized beginnings of industrialism around Shanghai, in the shape of the Child Labor Commission, applied mainly to Chinese factories, and was carried on throughout with Chinese co-operation. It failed just before the latest turmoil of revolution and civil war. The main hindrance at present to the protection of the child is the extreme poverty of the parents. In China there is as yet no effective law whatever for the protection of the worker. As a result Dame Anderson states that she has never seen or imagined anything so bad as the conditions she found in Chinese factories—where the cotton mills work night and day, children and adults alike on twelve-hour shifts, or even longer, through a seven-day week, where conditions in the silk filatures are as bad, where in match factories there is no protection against fire or poisoning. These children are often only five years old, and even younger. There are hopes of some improvement. The Shanghai Municipal Council is preparing a by-law to stop at once the factory employment of children under ten. This is little enough, perhaps, but a straw to show that the trend of Chinese feeling is in the right direction.

Lord Grey of Falloden who suffers a good deal from his eyes, has given testimony to the improvement that has been effected by a dietetic cure, which is nothing more or less than fasting. The same cure was adopted by Mr. Trelawney Irving who fasted for fifty days and thereby "his general health was enormously improved and he threw away spectacles he had worn for fourteen years and never resumed their use." Mr. Irving during fifty days abstained from all food. At first he took orange juice in water and lemon juice. He developed a marked distaste for lemon water and even plain water, and then he was given an infusion of "spinach and lettuce" and later apple water whose flavor was "nectar." This regimen lasted for fifty days, with the most favorable results.

PALAESTINA REDIVIVA

Hydroelectric works at Beisan on the Jordan will supply power to electrify all the railways in Palestine. The projected Jordan valley railway will provide transportation for the vast quantities of potash and other products obtained from the Dead Sea by evaporation in huge excavated pans floored with the impervious clay of the Jordan valley. A government concession has been granted to a firm composed of a Scotsman and a Jew.—Daily Paper.

In beauty fresh and fair a sparkling Sea
Lies deep within its walls precipitous,
Along the rugged mountain sides the lights
And shades in ever-changing contrasts play;
And warm the colors glow adown the steep
Even to the gleaming waters of the Sea,
Now rippling and now smooth and ever blue.
Into their depths for ages I have swept
A million million particles of dust
From far Mount Hermon and the desert waste.

I am the Jordan—to my age-old task—
Patient, unwearied, resolute—I hold;
Erode my banks, transport a precious freight,
And hide the wealth of Syria in the Sea.
Once only in a half-forgotten time
When Israel's priests and warriors came this way,
But once I paused, to let the tribes go in,
Led by the priests that bore their sacred Ark.
Then to my task again: anew to fret
And wear my curving banks, to sweep
The pebbles onward in the swifter stream
Or in the flats and shallows let them sink;
Anew to gather up the silty waste
Of matter indistinguishably fine
Suspended in my current seaward sped.
And as the unnumbered atomies unseen
Find rest within the bosom of the Sea,
So, from the watery deep a vaporous host
Move upward in the hot and quivering air
Leaving the remnant of my salty load
To sink within an ever saltier sea.

A new day dawns. There is a time to save,
A time to gather; and a time likewise
To spend, to scatter, and disperse;
A time for every purpose under Heaven.
Much have I gathered, and the time has come
To play the spendthrift. With an open hand
Scatter I must. For men have lately built
Athwart my course a barrier wide and high
And held my waters back to serve their need,
Formed a deep pool whose mighty overflow
Turns great revolving wheels. By magic next
And the dark craft of some familiar spirit
My power operates where it is not,
Now here, now there; the darkness I dispel
With starlike points of fire; hither and yon
I pass all silently on swiftest wings;
I warm, I chill; I weld, I break; I move
Or swift or slow vast loads of merchandise.

My mentors are a Scotsman and a Jew.
A stout alliance, they, armed at all points
Parsighted, canny, formidable pair!
I hear them talk of many marvellous things:
Of soda, lime, magnesium, iron,
Of bromides, nitrates, chlorides, carbonates,
By-products, mass production, tariffs, trade
This is the modern age, and even I
Must learn new lore and speak in modern phrase.
I am no longer of the ancient world.
My days of thrift are past. I scatter now
The hoards of countless ages o'er the world

AUTHORS ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

Mr. Alfred Carmichael Succeeds Mr. Donald Fraser—Mr. Tom McInnes Is Guest

Mr. Alfred Carmichael was elected president of the Vancouver Island branch of the Canadian Authors' Association at its annual meeting last evening. He succeeds Mr. Donald Fraser, who has held the office for the past two years, and who was the recipient of an expression of hearty thanks from the members before he left the chair.

The complete roster of officers for the ensuing year is as follows: President, Mr. Alfred Carmichael; first vice-president, Mr. Donald Fraser; treasurer, Miss Eugenie Perry; secretary, Mrs. Ebbs Canavan; assistant secretary, Mrs. Fraser; executive, Mr. C. C. Pemberton, Mrs. Polgreen, Mrs. W. Henderson, Mr. J. H. Regan, Mrs. Rathom and Mrs. Hutchinson.

The special guest of the evening was Mr. Tom McInnes, Canadian author of prose and poetry, introduced also as the son of a former Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and as a brother of Mr. W. W. B. McInnes, Governor of the Yukon. In the course of some picturesque reminiscences with which he favored the gathering, Mr. McInnes recalled, apropos of his preference for the name "Tom," that he had met Jack London in Skagway in '97, and remembered how angry the said Jack London had been when he received a letter addressed to "John" London, at a time when he was trying to make his penname known.

A skilled analyst of verse, Mr. McInnes, before quoting some of his own poems, told something about the old French forms, particularly the Pacaresque, originating in Picaroon. He had followed these forms through Villon and Rosetti. In his "Rhymes of a Rounder" was an essay on all the different verse forms which he had used, including his own invention, the "Mirella." Among the poems which he read were "The Ballad of the Picaroon," "Villanelle of Mutton," "The Lady of the Ventures," "The Ballads of Jacquelin," some of the "Round-about Rhymes," published by Ryerson Press; and "Zalinka" and "Laughter," from his "Complete Poems." He was warmly applauded and thanked as he took his seat.

The Authors' Association intends making an effort to entertain, in some informal way, an behalf of Dr. Charles G. D. Roberts, who is to lecture next Thursday evening for the University Extension Club; and Kathryn Hale, Canadian authoress, who is to be in the city for several days the week after next.

Mrs. McMicking, at whose invitation the club met at the Y.W.C.A. last evening, was much thanked for her hospitality.

LOGGERS PROTECTED IN LIEN ACTIONS

Mr. C. F. Davie's Bill Passed Through Committee Stage in the House

Mr. C. F. Davie's bill to protect the logger in the woods by amending the Lien Act, passed committee of the House last night. Mr. Davie's bill provided for two things. One of them gives the right to wage earners to seize logs by writ of attachment if the logs are liable to be taken from the locality in which the work was done. At present seizure of the logs could only be made if they were destined for removal from the province, or were liable to be manufactured into lumber.

The other feature gave power to the court to order a sale of logs to satisfy the wage earners without intervention of the sheriff, this saving costs and loss by the usual legal delays.

Mr. Davie said the object was to safeguard the workingman against a dishonest employer. He wished to protect the wage earner so that he might by way of lien overcome a difficulty met at present. He did not want to prejudice the log operator. The logs would not be held up, he said, but instead of this an order on the buyer should be given the logger to satisfy the claims of the wage earner.

Objections were raised by Mr. R. W. Bruhn, Mr. M. Manson and Mr. Chris McRae on the subject.

Under the present act the Attorney-General said there was power to prevent the logs going out of the province. On the other hand if they remained in the province the workman could follow them by means of the lien.

Mr. Davie wanted to know how the men were going to follow the logs. They would be taken out of the province while he was doing so.

Leading Minister Here for Week-End

Rev. A. W. McIntosh, of St. Giles' United Church, Vancouver, will be in the city over the week-end, coming here at the invitation of the minister and session of the Fairfield United Church in connection with a series of special meetings which will begin on Sunday and continue throughout the coming week. Mr. McIntosh has occupied some of the most important charges in Canada. For some years he was in Saskatoon, and later was a co-pastor of Ralph Connor in Winnipeg. Before he accepted his present pastorate in Vancouver he was in the ministry at Pembroke, Ont. He will preach on Sunday both morning and evening. Special music is being arranged.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist, March 9, 1878)

Great Britain's Preparations—Lieut.-General McDougall, chief of the Intelligence Department in the War Office, will in May take command of the forces in Canada. It is understood that in the event of war, General McDougall will have authority to raise 18,000 Canadians for service in Europe. Vice-Admiral Inglefield will in May assume command of the fleet on the North American and Indian stations. All officers on leave have received orders to hold themselves in readiness to rejoin their regiments immediately on receipt of telegraphic notice.

Fire at Panama—A fire at Panama on March 7 destroyed three blocks of the principal part of the city. It is supposed the fire originated in the old Grand Hotel. The sufferers are as follows: Lansburg, Wilson & Brakemer, ship chandlers; Isaac Brandon & Co., grocers; Schuber, Bros., shipping house; Sternberg, Cooks & Rolander, and many residences. The total loss is $500,000. Lansburg was insured in German companies for $50,000; the Grand Hotel was insured for $80,000, also in German companies. The other insurances amount to $100,000.

The Dakota—This steamship arrived yesterday morning from San Francisco after a pleasant run, bringing 118 passengers and a fair freight. She sailed at ten o'clock yesterday for Puget Sound ports, and will return tonight and sail for San Francisco at noon on the 19th inst.

MENTAL HYGIENE

Sir,—In this morning's issue of The Colonist we are very pleased to see that there is a specialist on the above subject in our midst. Also in The Times of last evening this same specialist advises a psychopathic hospital at Vancouver — a hospital which we hope to see fulfilling the great destiny such a structure should—"a prevention home in the truest sense of the word"; a place where new cases can be dealt with, in the early stages by understanding, kindly firm treatment. What most insane want is a kind friend, and strictly truthful dealing; also less of that terrible fear of them evidenced by their so-called friends, the very moment they become objects of suspicion. Our neighbors in the East have formed visiting committees for these hospitals. This is an initial step towards bringing these great government hospitals up to the place they deserve; which is equality with our medical and surgical hospitals of the country.

Please bear with me, Mr. Editor, for one more moment. The psychopathic hospital is to be situate in Vancouver. Between here and there is a boat journey at stated intervals. We in Victoria have only three small barred rooms, which the writer likes to think of as the beginnings of our psychopathic hospital here, "minus the bars." If these are inadequate to house a patient for a brief space time until a boat departs, we plead that any other course be employed in preference to a committal as a public menace and a lodgment in the city criminal jail for those few hours. This, to begin treatment of a slight case, may also lead to the finish, rather than a cure. The agony of being in a criminal jail added to the known agony of slight abnormality is liable to work damage beyond repair.

ROTARY CLUBS DO GOOD WORK

District Governor H. H. Manny Compliments Local Club on Its Contribution in Service

The good work that Rotary International is accomplishing all over the continent and especially in Victoria, was the keynote of the few remarks delivered by Mr. H. H. Manny, of Seattle, governor of the Pacific Northwest Rotary District, at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the local Rotary Club in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

"Had I the time," Mr. Manny said, "I would compliment this club on its achievements, for I know you are doing a wonderful work."

Governor Manny, who was tendered a flattering greeting, displayed his interest in the discussion of plans for financing and building of a nurses' home in connection with the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay. The members discussed the project freely, and it is expected that a decision will be reached at next week's luncheon.

President James Fletcher pointed out that the Rotary Club had a fund of $3,400 on hand, with interest, for the use of the directors of the Solarium in whatever way they think best.

Mr. James H. Miller stated, amid applause, that next Sunday evening would be Rotary Night at the Canadian Scottish Regiment Band concert at the Capitol Theatre. A block of 100 seats will be reserved for Rotarians and their guests.

Following the luncheon, a number of the Rotarians went up to the new Christ Church Cathedral and inspected the work that has been done there to date. They were escorted over the structure by Mr. J. C. M. Keith, architect of the new cathedral.

Vancouver City Radio Fan Sets Clock by Big Ben

VANCOUVER, March 8.—Setting his clock by Big Ben, London, every afternoon for the past three weeks, is believed to be a new radio reception record made here by M. H. Thoreau, 3281 Thirty-Fourth Avenue West. Mr. Thoreau states he has been getting 5SW, Chelmsford, England, regularly between noon and four p.m., Pacific time. The station rebroadcasts programmes from 2LO, London, and signs off with Big Ben chiming midnight.

Yokohama Fire Spreads Rapidly For Short Time

YOKOHAMA, March 8.—Heavy property losses were recorded, but no loss of life, when a well-known tea house and a score of buildings in the West Nikko district were razed to the ground by a fire which started early last night and spread rapidly to the business quarter. The fire was a most spectacular one, and was watched by thousands, including practically all of the tourists making the world cruise on the Empress of Australia, which reached port yesterday. The flames were got under control this morning.

JAPANESE WANT TO BE CANADIANS

Inspector Sullivan Tells Women's Educational Auxiliary of Interesting Incident

The story of the Steveston Japanese who, ambitious for their children, collected and presented to the school trustees of the district a sum sufficient to employ a teacher to conduct a kindergarten school so that the little Japanese boys and girls of pre-school age would begin the regular public school work on an equal footing with the Canadian children, was told by Inspector A. Sullivan in the address which he gave before the Women's Educational Auxiliary yesterday afternoon. The meeting took place at the Victoria West End Church, the president, Mrs. Watson, in the chair, and a good attendance of members present.

Mr. Sullivan dealt with Canada from the point of view of the visitor, the settler, and the native-born. In the first group were mentioned some of the more distinguished men who have visited Canada during the past few years, including Premier Stanley Baldwin, who had been impressed, it seemed, with the cold fogs of the Newfoundland coast. In this he had perpetuated a remembrance somewhat akin to Rudyard Kipling in "Our Lady of the Snows." During the past year Canada had had big parties of educationists, an Empire mining conference, and other important bodies of men and women. More recently there had come Lieutenant-Colonel Amery, who had spoken of Canada as not only an Atlantic, but a Pacific power. Lord Willingdon, the Governor-General, had called attention to the fact that Canadians, while seeking outside capital for investment in their own country, were themselves heavy investors in the United States. Premier Stanley Baldwin before leaving Canada had urged the people not to make careless haste in populating the country, but to select from the old stock.

The speaker referred to the big percentage of Galicians, Czechoslovakians, and other Central and Southern European peoples to be found in Canada, particularly in the Middle West. Canada had a vast territory, but was it desirable to have such a proportion of these peoples? Referring to the heterogeneous peoples arriving by some of the immigrant trains, Mr. Sullivan remarked that no fewer than seventeen different nationalities had passed through Winnipeg on a single train. In British Columbia the problem was not so much the European admixture as the Oriental. The male population was increasing more rapidly among the Japanese than among the British. The Steveston incident was cited to illustrate the ambition of the Japanese to qualify as good citizens.

Some examples of Canadian genius in organization were cited by the speaker in that part of his address which dealt with the native-born Canadian. It had, perhaps, taken the Great War to discover the genius of the Canadian organization. Sir Arthur Currie was an outstanding example. In the political world there were other examples, and in this connection the name of Premier MacLean was given. Canada, in her Fathers of Confederation, had a noble political ancestry and traditions to live up to.

Canada, said the speaker in conclusion, should be great in the arts of peace as well as in the arts of war. There should, in course of time, be placed in the national cenotaph, beside the grave of the unknown warrior, a tomb in which all prejudices and hates of the nations would be buried for all time.

AMALGAMATION BILL PASSES

Interesting Point Is Raised With Regard to Qualification of Former Soldiers

The Greater Vancouver Amalgamation Bill passed committee of the House last evening, after Major Lyons succeeded in having incorporated into the bill the provision that returned soldiers who held their land land under the Soldier's Land Act, the Better Housing Act or the Soldiers' Settlement Act, 1917, and upon which $1,000 had been paid, should so qualify for office.

The Attorney-General objected to the language used in the bill, which set out the proviso for the first elections, and the holding of the first meetings of the new council under the amalgamation in the words: "Notwithstanding anything contained in the Public Schools Act or any other act, statute or law."

This was, he felt, unnecessary language. It was carrying the idea of the superlative too far.

Mr. H. D. Twigg agreed with the Attorney-General, while Colonel Peck thought the clause might be made to read: "Notwithstanding any law of God or man."

Major A. Lyons raised the point that an injustice was being done returned men with respect to debarring them from running for office. It should be made possible for returned men to qualify who might be taking advantage of the Better Housing Act and smaller acts. This was provided for under the Municipal Act. If this bill now passed, Vancouver would be the only municipality in the province that did not have this provision.

He moved to amend the Vancouver bill accordingly.

Mr. R. H. Neelands and Mr. Tom Uphill wanted the matter carried further, and wipe out all property qualification.

The amendment of Major Lyons carried.

AVIATOR KILLED

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., March 8.—John Mulcahy, a Canadian and former member of the Royal Flying Corps, who later became a commercial aviator, was killed today when his plane fell 400 feet in a nose dive as he was preparing to land.

Mulcahy, who was twenty-nine years old, was flying an Avro training plane of wartime vintage. Aviators believed that Mulcahy throttled down his engine so low in preparation for the landing that the plane lost flying speed.

DAMAGE TRIAL IS CONCLUDED

Mr. Justice Murphy Reserves Judgment in Case of J. S. H. Matson Versus H. B. Olson

LEASE OF BUS DEPOT INVOLVED

Evidence was concluded, argument heard and judgment reserved by Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court yesterday in the case of Matson vs. Olson in which plaintiff is suing for $30,000 damages arising from alleged breach of contract of defendant to lease the newly completed bus depot on Broughton Street.

F. E. McDermott gave evidence of looking over the grease pits of the stage depot about the latter part of November last. This was with a view "in the event of the deal going through," of taking over the concession with his partner, Mr. Paterson. He also went to Mr. Berrill's office and talked over the plan.

To Mr. Tait witness stated that he considered the location a good one in connection with the depot, and that it might be a good thing to move up there. Mr. Olson had not represented that he (Mr. Olson) was taking over the depot.

REBUTTAL EVIDENCE

Mr. Matson, recalled, stated that he had never had any plans of bus depots in his house or anywhere until after the plans of this building were produced. As to Mr. Olson's statement of an interview between them in Victoria on December 7, he showed that he was in Saanich that day and had not seen or heard from Mr. Olson. This he substantiated by detailing his movements and the transaction of a piece of business with Mr. Joseph Cass at the farm.

Mr. Maclean read to Mr. Matson an extract from a letter written by him on January 7 last, in which was the remark: "I was very much annoyed, but I can truly say that the business methods employed by this young man are really a blessing in disguise, but on no account would I now have any dealings with him," and asked Mr. Matson if he had written that. He replied that he had, and it was all true, but would like the whole of the letter to be read and put in.

Mr. Maclean said he did not propose to put it in.

Proceeding, in answer to Mr. Maclean, witness stated that it was on November 23 that they got down to a financial basis on the lease, although it had been discussed before. It was always agreed that defendant was to come in on the $150 basis. The December 7 date was when he should give an answer as to whether he was to take the building. The letter to which Mr. Maclean referred was written to Mr. Herbert Wilson, manager of the C.P.R. hotels.

Mr. Winslow, recalled, stated that there were no plans produced to Mr. Matson until those drawn by Mr. Berrill and discussed at Mr. Matson's house, and witness never wrote any letters to other places for plans of bus depots until after that meeting. Mr. Winslow also denied that there had been any communication with Mr. Matson on December 7, as stated by Mr. Olson, nor on December 22.

To Mr. Maclean witness stated that he knew December 7 was the date Mr. Olson was to give his answer as to taking the whole of the premises. Witness was quite certain of the November 23 date because he had the memorandum of it.

Mr. Joseph Cass confirmed Mr. Matson's evidence as to December 7, he having been with him in Saanich all that day and reached town with him about 4 o'clock. He gave Mr. Matson a note dated that day for a cow purchased.

MEMORY CLEAR

To Mr. Maclean he stated his memory of the date was clear because it had been arranged a short time before for him to go to Saanich about the cow. As to when he began to think about the matter after that, witness replied that he had not ceased to think of it because he had a note to meet.

Mr. J. L. Tait also confirmed the fact that Mr. Matson was out of town on December 7 and 22, the dates Mr. Olson stated he had talked with him, and substantiated it from banking and long distance telephone records.

Mr. G. W. Cossford was able to prove that Mr. Matson was at the farm from the twenty-first to the twenty-fourth of December.

This closed the testimony on both sides, and Mr. Maclean proceeded to review the case in argument. He submitted that Mr. Matson, having this building on his hands, was anxious to get rid of the worry of managing it, and desired to hand it over to someone who would do so for him. Therefore, Mr. Winslow is found acting in connection with the building. He communicated with Mr. Olson and endeavors to enlist his interest in it by getting advice and suggestions about a store depot from a person of knowledge and experience. He also got in touch with Mr. Berrill who, Mr. Maclean stated, was Mr. Matson's architect, and procured plans. Mr. Olson's advice is asked on those plans, and he gave it. Eventually Mr. Winslow secured an appointment with Mr. Matson, when Mr. Olson, Mr. Winslow and Mr. Matson discussed those plans. That is to say, Mr. [illegible] submitted, Mr. Winslow was acting as Mr. Matson's agent.

There was no doubt the depot was a good thing for Victoria, and would prove a great convenience and comfort. Mr. Olson thought it a good thing, and that induced him to inquire about the amount of rent. Nothing could be settled on that point then, as the building had not been commenced. At the various meetings, Mr. Olson had made suggestions as to conveniences, accommodation and equipment, but after the plans were made there was only one slight alteration, on the suggestion of young Mr. Olson.

RENT QUESTION UP

It was on the twenty-third of November that the question of rent came up. Mr. Matson was a man of vast business experience, he was advised in this by Mr. Winslow and his architect, and must be presumed to know what he was doing. The plans were not Olson's. If any arrangement about leasing had been reached at that meeting, Mr. Matson was businessman enough to see that it was put in writing. It was only on the seventh of December that recourse was had to the plan of letting a part of the building, after Olson had discovered that it was not possible to get the other bus operators in. That was what wrecked the scheme. Mr. Olson was willing to take the building if he could have control, and saw that he could make the necessary revenue. He had received some promises, but not sufficient to justify him in assuming a liability of $1,000 per month. He had never been on the premises since Plimley vacated.

As to the legal aspect of the case, the proposition that the plaintiff relies upon can in no circumstances be anything more than an agreement for a lease, and this must be in writing. Therefore, the Statute of Frauds applies. Secondly, the doctrine of part performance can be invoked by a court of equity only in cases where specific performance can be enforced. Here the plaintiff is suing for damages, but those damages are only in lieu of specific performance. The contract, if there is any contract in this case, is impossible of specific performance, because it is not possible to state from the evidence when it came into existence. The terms must be definite, and he submitted that there was no definiteness in this contract. Really the contract, if any, was only for $150 a month, and the court will not order specific performance of such a contract. The beginning and the end of the term of lease must be specified. Nothing that Olson did could be construed as part performance by him.

As to damages, in view of Mr. Matson's letter to Mr. Wilson, instead of being damnified, he was relieved by Olson's failure. In any event, if damages should be awarded, Mr. Maclean submitted that plaintiff could not expect to be recouped the cost of the building and still have the building. The very outside, he submitted, that could be awarded, would be nominal damages.

SUMS UP CASE

Mr. Tait, in his summing up, set out a table of the material dates in the case. Mr. Winslow, he argued, was Mr. Olson's agent throughout, because defendant had spoken with him a number of times about procuring a building, as he feared eventually the bus operators would be taken off the streets.

There were many conflicts of testimony, but the evidence of Mr. Matson, Mr. Winslow, Mr. Berrill and Mr. McGivern all agreed—it was not shaken in cross-examination, and there were mis-statements in Mr. Olson's testimony in many particulars of an important nature.

Mr. Olson's interviews were all based on the presumption that he was going to occupy the building. This agreement commenced in June, and was confirmed in November. There were promise, acceptance and consideration to create the agreement, and the chief consideration was Mr. Olson's undertaking to bring his buses into the building as soon as it was ready. It was on that undertaking and no other that Mr. Matson proceeded with the building. That was stated in evidence by Mr. Matson, and was not contradicted. There were more than one promise made and more than one consideration given to create the contract. The whole transaction was specific and clear, and was capable of enforcement. The letter of Mr. Matson to Mr. Wilson was no evidence that Mr. Matson was not damnified. His damage was evident in the building, which he had been induced to construct on Mr. Olson's broken undertaking.

The damage suffered is fully enough set out in the evidence to warrant the court in awarding substantial compensation.

A discussion took place between the Judge and Mr. Tait as to these heads of damage, and where they were set out in the evidence, and leave was given to Mr. Tait to file a memorandum dealing with that and the application of the Statute of Frauds.

The court ordered the evidence to be transcribed, and reserved judgment.

JOHN DUNNETT AND JOHN HUTTON TO BE CALLED AT ASSIZES NEXT WEEK

Accused Charged With Criminal Assault—Four Other Cases Will Go to Grand Jury

John Dunnett and John Hutton, two nineteen-year-old youths, were committed for trial by Magistrate George Jay, in the Oak Bay Police Court yesterday, on a charge of criminally assaulting a girl on February 24.

The preliminary hearing of the case took place yesterday, when over a dozen witnesses were called by the Crown and examined. The two accused reserved their defence. Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., is counsel for Dunnett and Hutton, while City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison directed the case for the prosecution.

Dunnett and Hutton will be tried in the Assize Court here next week, the Victoria Spring Criminal Assizes, opening Tuesday morning, March 13, at 11 o'clock at the Court House on Bastion Street.

Four other cases will be presented to the Grand Jury next week. Raymond Roberts, who is at present in Oakalla Jail, will face trial on a charge of manslaughter, arising out of the death of Motorcycle Constable Albert E. Wells from injuries sustained in a motor accident at the corner of Quadra Street and Hillside Avenue on December 17, 1927.

RUBBISH DUMPING MUST BE STOPPED

Saanich Police to Put End to Practice of City People Depositing Trash in District

Dumping of rubbish in Saanich municipality by persons or firms of Victoria or other districts must stop, and the Saanich police are determined to put an end to this practice, Chief Allan Rankin, of Saanich, told The Colonist last night.

Chief Rankin said that a number of people from the city at various times had taken rubbish into Saanich and deposited it there. This rubbish had included such things as old tins, motorcar bodies, old vegetables, etc., and they had been dumped onto vacant lots.

In the Saanich police court yesterday, a youth in the employ of the A. E. Humphries Motors, Ltd., was charged with unlawfully disposing of rubbish on Prospect Lake Road. The accused pleaded guilty to the charge and the court was advised that the rubbish which had been dumped had been since removed by the accused.

Magistrate Jay stated that in view of the case being the first brought into court, and the fact that the rubbish had been removed, he would impose the nominal fine of $1. He issued a warning that further violators of the by-law would have to pay a heavier fine.

E. R. Thomas, J. L. Heyden and R. A. Sparks all pleaded guilty to driving their automobiles without the required driver's licence, and each was fined $5.

KELLETT GIVEN MONTH IN JAIL

Pays Penalty for Stealing Automobile Rug—Phil Burnett Fined for Assaulting T. Greenwell

One month in jail with hard labor was the sentence imposed upon Harold Kellett, convicted of stealing an automobile rug from the Empress Taxi Company, by Magistrate George Jay in the city police court yesterday. Kellett had admitted stealing the article when he was first arraigned in court on Wednesday.

Phil Burnett was fined $10 for assaulting Thomas Greenwell at the corner of Broad and Yates Streets on February 28. Both the accused and informant are taxi operators. The magistrate commented that it was unfortunate these disputes and troubles broke out among taxi drivers, and that they usually occurred about this time of year. It appeared that there was not the best of feeling between Burnett and Greenwell, and there were indications of jealousy, although he did not know what the cause of it was.

Sing, a Chinaman, charged with being in possession of opium, was further remanded until this morning. City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison informing the court that the alleged drug was still in the hands of the Provincial Government Analyst. The accused has pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred against him.

Budam Singh, a Hindu, who was arraigned in court to answer to a charge of stealing chickens, was remanded until next Wednesday for hearing.

MR. G. B. SHAW HAS NEW BOOK WRITTEN

LONDON, March 8.—For the first time in many years, Mr. Bernard Shaw has written a book without a preface. Usually his prefaces are at least one-third as long as the rest of the book.

The book is "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism," written at the suggestion of his secretary, Miss Blanche Patch. It is a massive work, made still more massive by the addition of an index, on which several of his collaborators are hard at work.

The Labor party, well aware of Mr. Shaw's cynicism, is already viewing the book's publication, which is to be soon, with some anxiety. Not long ago someone asked Mr. Shaw to whom he could leave the bulk of his money, since he has no children and his wife has an income of her own. "Anyway, not to the Labor party," he said.

TO SUMMER IN EUROPE

Friends in the city have received information from Mrs. Arthur E. Lane that she and her daughter, Miss Marjorie Lane, will spend the Summer in Europe instead of coming to Victoria as they usually do. They have already booked passage, and will sail from New York about the end of March on the Italian steamship Duilo. Until June 1 they will be at Naples, and from there will proceed to Paris, where they intend to stay for a time before going southward again to Spain. They expect to be back in Chicago early in October. It will be good news to their numerous friends in Victoria to know that they have already decided to come here for the Summer of 1929, thus resuming a practice to which Mrs. Lane has faithfully adhered for several years.

A new six-story Chinese department store, employing 450 Chinese, was recently opened in Tsientsin, China.

MOTION ON SECESSION DEFEATED

Rural and Urban Representatives on Saanich Council Clash in Verbal Battle on Hardy Annual

REEVE TIES VOTE DEFEATING MOTION

Council Had No Right to Consider Resolution Without Official Information, Says Councillor

Secession was the chief topic of debate again at last night's meeting of the Saanich Council but the discussion was productive of little result. Councillor Eden's motion that the council notify the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council of its willingness to place no obstacle in the way of secession of any part of the municipality and that a vote on the issue be taken by ballot, went down to defeat with a tie vote. Reeve William Crouch having the casting vote. The only motion that carried in respect to this issue was that the Government be asked to notify the council of any action taken by the Government in connection with secession. This motion was opposed by Councillors Watson and Hagan.

When Councillor Eden's motion was introduced, Councillor Watson remarked that the council was in a somewhat peculiar position, inasmuch as it had not been officially informed of a petition being signed in connection with secession or of the contents of such a petition.

Councillor Eden replied that the council had the information provided in press reports.

Opposition was voiced by Councillor Borden to the motion. He could not agree to the balloting clause of the resolution. He felt that the rural wards were as much entitled to concessions as the inner wards. When asked by Councillor Eden what concessions the inner wards had from the Government, Councillor Borden quoted figures to show how the rural wards were bearing the cost of education in the inner wards. These figures were for the year 1926. Councillor Borden felt there should be a more equitable distribution of school costs.

Councillor Stubbs wanted to know if Councillor Borden had taken into consideration, when compiling his figures, the Government grants to the municipality based on school population. Councillor Borden replied in the affirmative.

The tax basis was entirely wrong, Councillor Hagan interjected.

Councillor Eden interrupted by saying that it would be a sad condition where each individual paid for his own educational expenses.

ON DANGEROUS GROUND

"We are treading on ground we have no right to tread upon," Councillor Watson said, in opposing the resolution. The council had no right to consider such a resolution when it did not know whether a petition existed, and if there was such a petition, what its contents were. In any event, these petitioners were operating under a provincial act framed to give them relief.

Councillor Stubbs was of the opinion that the rural wards in seeking secession were also seeking concessions, and he felt the municipal council should be informed as to every action so that it could protect the municipality.

Objection was taken by Councillor Hagan to the clause in the motion asking that a ballot vote be taken on secession in the wards affected. He could see no need of such a procedure when a petition had been signed. He had signed the petition and knew that there were few in the rural wards who had not.

Reeve Crouch's contention was that a true expression of opinion would be obtained in a plebiscite. He felt that there were too many influences at work in the signing of petitions.

VOTE TAKEN

The motion was then put to a vote. Councillors Stubbs, Eden, Graham and the Reeve voted in favor and Councillors Oldfield, Watson, Borden and Hagan against.

A motion was then drafted asking the Government to notify the municipal council of any move in connection with secession, so that the council could lodge any complaints if necessary. Councillor Watson voted against it on the grounds that such a motion reflected on the integrity of those sitting in the Legislature. Councillor Hagan gave no reason for opposing it. His only remark was, "I hardly know which way to vote."

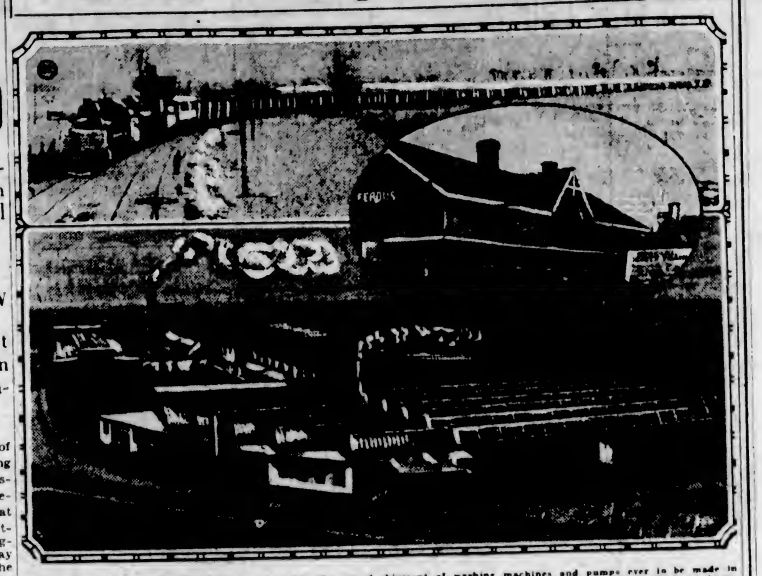

Unsafe Conditions Had Been Reported At Hollinger Mine

TIMMINS, Ont., March 8.—Arthur Mortimer, the man whose name was given in an anonymous letter as "Matener," appeared before the royal commission investigating the Hollinger disaster today, and told how on one occasion, when he complained of conditions affecting the safety of his men, the answer came back from his superiors: "Tell Mortimer to mind his own business and get on with the track laying; that's what he is here for."

A. W. Young, assistant mine superintendent, told the court he had investigated the conditions complained of by Mortimer, and that he had taken up the matter with Superintendent V. H. Emery, with whom was J. W. Dougherty, production superintendent, and it was decided that the captains were to sign reports certifying when the stopes were safe for track laying. Mortimer had been so advised. Young said he had to accept somebody's judgement, as he could not go round to see that everything was right.

C.P.R. Washing Machine Special

Upper—The C.P.R. train of thirty-five cars carrying the record shipment of washing machines and pumps ever to be made in Canada. Lower—Plant of Beatty Bros. at Fergus, Ontario. Inset—Fergus' station, the Special C.P.R. Train about to leave.

FERGUS, a little Ontario town of 2,500 people, is making a large contribution to the cleaning up of the West. Recently the whole community turned out to see the dispatch of a special train of thirty-five cars, double-headed with motive power, leave for the West with the largest consignment of washing machines and pumps ever to be made in Canada. There were churns, hay carriers and ladders, but the bulk of the 11,000 individual shipments were pumps and washing machines which had already been sold by Beatty Brothers in farm and rural communities. Fifteen hundred merchants in Western Canada participated in the shipment which was handled as a special train by the Canadian Pacific through to Vancouver. Cars were dropped at Winnipeg, Calgary, Saskatoon, Regina and Edmonton, distribution being fairly general.

The large number of pumps going forward suggests that the Western farmer has decided to carry no more water if his housekeeper will do no more washing.

City and District

Mental Hygiene Report—The final report of the committee of the Legislature on mental hygiene is expected to reach the House early next week. The chairman of the committee which has been engaged on this work since two sessions ago and which has submitted already quite a comprehensive interim report, is General Victor Odlum.

To Meet Officials—Mr. F. Lewin district manager of the Confederation Life Association, and Messrs. F. R. M. Wallis, H. Kottershead, and P. K. Winch, general agents, went to Vancouver yesterday afternoon, to attend a sales conference to be held in that city today, with Messrs. C. D. Devlin and Wiliam Wallace, head office officials from Toronto.

B.C. Philatelic Society—Plans for the philatelic exhibition to be held in David Spencer's store, Vancouver, April 13 and 14, were discussed at a meeting of the B.C. Philatelic Society, held Wednesday night in Vancouver. Word was received from the Tacoma society that members of that body would exhibit and attend in force, instead of holding an exhibition of their own.

Town Planing Bill—When the Town Planning Act amendment bill came up for second reading last night in the House, the Attorney-General announced that he took no responsibility for the measure, although it stood in his name. He referred to the fact that he had before said some things of a critical nature with respect to it, and when it came into committee he would propose some amendments.

Sewer By-Law—A by-law authorizing Saanich to collect rentals from residents whose properties are connected with the northeast and northwest sewers passed its third reading at last night's meeting of the Saanich Council. This by-law was made necessary through the signing of an agreement between Saanich, the city and Oak Bay, whereby residents of Saanich could obtain this connection if they paid an initial fee and yearly rental.

No Pass Yet Found—Replying to Colonel Peck the answer was given by Hon. T. D. Pattullo in the House that a pass through the mountains north of the Skeena River, by which a highway could be constructed at reasonable cost to connect Prince Rupert with the Provincial Highway system, had not been discovered. An aeroplane was used in the photographing of the country alluded to for two days at a cost of $258.33. Engineers had been employed at a cost of $36 in checking up the matter.

Argument By Counsel—When the trial of Wah Lung, Wong Seong and Yue Ling resumes in the County Court next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, argument by counsel will be heard by His Honor Judge P. S. Lampman, who is presiding at the trial. Mr. Stuart Henderson is appearing for the three accused, while Mr. M. B. Jackson, K.C., is representing the Crown. The three Chinamen are charged with selling and distributing opium.

Vancouver Administrator—In replying to questions of Mr. R. H. Pooley in the Legislature, the Attorney-General gave the information that Mr. W. H. MacInnes, former Civil Service Commissioner, is now Official Administrator in Vancouver; that he does so on a commission basis, out of which he maintains his own office and staff; that the arrangement provides for the payment of five per cent on personality and one per cent on real estate sold through agents; that in 1926 for seven months he received $4,876.04, and that in 1927 he received $10,233.54.

To Destroy Obsolete Records—There is to be a big bonfire at the headquarters of the Liquor Control Board soon. The accumulated stock of counter checks has become so large that it is proposed that these be burned from the period antedating 1926. The anouncement of this proposed action was made by the Attorney-General in the Legislature at last night's sitting when Major Lyons asked for an explanation as to what they were. Mr. Manson explained that they were the signed papers that were filed when purchases were made in any liquor store. He said that in certain instances they were found very useful, but they accumulated, and it was thought that the earlier ones could be now destroyed. The action was endorsed.

ATTEMPT TO PROVOKE STRIKE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 8.—With the union abiding by its pledge to Mayor James J. Walker to defer strike action until Saturday, the Interborough Rapid Transit today had added ten more names to the list of twenty-one union men it had previously discharged.

Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees termed the action a "deliberate attempt to provoke a strike" and the mayor was said to be displeased with the action and contemplated an appeal to the I.R.T. directors for a more tolerant labor attitude.

The present controversy was brought on by the company's resistance to efforts of the union to organize its lines, and the mayor was represented as seeking a more tolerant attitude by the company, pending a court decision on the labor body's right to organize the company lines. Such action is now pending in the courts.

Committee of French Parliament Approves Legation at Ottawa

PARIS, March 8.—The finance committee of the Chamber of Deputies today approved an appropriation for the settlement of the French legation at Ottawa. The amount of the appropriation was not given.

The United Young People's Council, composed of F. Hunter, president; A. Walker, secretary; D. Purvis, N. Grant and W. Earth are credited with the success of the affair. The officers of the Y.M.C.A. co-operated in every way possible, and F. V. Shoemaker, W. S. Maguire, A. Acres, H. Robson and A. McKinnon were complimented by D. Purvis in his closing remarks.

HOME ECONOMICS DELEGATION HERE

Urging the establishment of a course in home ecohomics at the University of British Columbia, a delegation of Vancouver women waited upon the Provincial Government yesterday.

After hearing the views of the delegation, Premier MacLean said that the Government was sympathetically inclined toward the proposal. But, he added, the estimates for this session of the House had been closed. The Government would inquire into the matter during the coming year, he assured the delegation.

The service at the Stranger's Rest will be conducted tonight at 8 o'clock by Dr. Sipprell, and members of the Brotherhood of the United Church. The public is invited.

Reason for Making Measure Retroactive

When the Gasoline Tax Bill came up for consideration in committee last evening in the Legislature, Mr. H. D. Twigg asked the Attorney-General if the section which made the operations of the bill retroactive were intended only to make it possible to proceed against two men who now refused to pay the tax mentioned at a former time by Mr. Manson.

Mr. Twigg thought that if this were so it surely was a proper course to take.

The Attorney-General said that this was not the intention. He had no serious idea of proceeding against them.

Who Persuaded Him?

EDMONTON, March 8.—Visions of a fortune to tide him over his remaining span of life have prompted Frank E. Foster, pioneer farmer of the Chinook, Alberta, district, to commence legal action to establish himself as one of the heirs to a $500,000,000 estate. The estate is that of the late John Nicholas Emerick, who died in 1817 on one of the trading vessels in the Delaware River, near Philadelphia, and left his fortune in trust for ninety-nine years, with John Jacob Astor as trustee for his lawful heirs.

L. Brooks, Stelly's Crossroad, on Wednesday, March 14. The competition is in charge of Messrs. C. B. McCarthy and G. Spencer, and is open to anyone who wishes to take part, all of whom are asked to be on the field at 10 a.m. Excellent prizes are being offered by the Institute.

VICTORIA

By the courtesy of David Spencer, Limited, the Victoria Women's Institute will hold a home-cooking stall in the Bargain Highway on Saturday morning in aid of the general funds. Members and friends wishing, in this way, to assist the work of the Institute, will kindly bring donations to the Institute headquarters, 203 Union Building, View Street, this afternoon, where Mrs. Urquhart or Mrs. Terry will receive them, or to the stall on Saturday morning.

GARDEN CITY

The March meeting of the Garden City Women's Institute was held in Marigold Hall. The resolution sent by the Shirley Women's Institute, asking that speakers at conferences should have the evening meetings, was unanimously endorsed. The annual membership fee and yearly donation of sugar to the Solarium will be sent this month. Mr. Dyer gave a very interesting demonstration talk on "Canned Goods." A silver tea will be held on April 6, proceeds to go to the Solarium. During the afternoon Dr. Wace will give a short address.

HOME-COOKING SALE

The North Quadra troop of Boy Scouts will hold a home-cooking sale tomorow morning in the basement of David Spencer's, Limited.

COBBLE HILL

COBBLE HILL, March 8.—The Cobble Hill Women's Institute held its monthly meeting in the hall Wednesday afternoon with an attendance of fifteen, Mrs. C. Wace, president, occupying the chair. A very interesting address covering the work of the Solarium was given by Dr. Wace, who went into many of the cases in detail. The executive is anxious for some form of tuition in useful handicrafts to be given in those cases which are approaching cure. Dr. Wace was heartily thanked and the information was forthcoming that the Institute is holding a daffodil tea on the 29th inst. for the purpose of providing funds for the maintenance of a child, and that $6, or a week's keep, has already been provided by a member. A resolution from the Shirley Women's Institute asking that the whole of the morning and afternoon sessions at the conference be confined to Women's Institute speakers, and an outside speaker be invited for the evening session, was endorsed. A resolution from the Royal Oak Women's Institute recommending that the department arrange that the district board be given proper legal standing, was agreed to. A questionnaire from the provincial board, which proposes to make a survey of the province as to the conditions in which families are living in rural districts, will be filled in by the directors. It seeks to find, first, why British Columbia does not feed the province, what each district can raise, and its facilities for market; second, the conditions, and environment, under which farm women are living, with a view to helping them in securing public utilities; third, to find out what cottage industries can be established. It is hoped that the tabulated replies to this questionnaire will be invaluable to those outside the province, and also to provincial public bodies, particularly the University and the Department of Agriculture. The sum of $25 was voted to the Cowichan Health Centre, and $2.50 to the Cowichan Children's Endowment operating table at the Jubilee Hospital. Mrs. McMillan was appointed the delegate to the convention in Duncan on May 15 and 16. Tea hostesses were Mrs. Cheeke and Miss G. Welstead.

PLEA MADE FOR COWICHAN MEN

Mr. C. F. Davie Appeals for Aid to Farmers in Cowichan Valley as Well as Those Eleswhere

LAND SETTLEMENT LOANS REPORTED

The situation of the farmers of the province was made the subject of debate yesterday in the Legislature when the vote for the Land Settlement Board came up. Various aspects of the farmers' condition were dealt with, including a renewed criticism of the policy of charging higher rates of interest on loans to farmers than had been provided. Mr. C. F. Davie made an appeal for the farmers of his district who, he said, did not get the benefits that were handed out to other farmers like the milk producers of the Fraser and the fruit growers of the Okanagan. Yet the farmers of the Cowichan Valley had been on their land from early times in the history of the province. He said that the Minister was not giving the due attention to these men.

LAND SETTLEMENT

On the reconsideration of the Land Settlement Board vote, Hon. E. D. Barrow gave the information that there was considerable work being done by this body.

There were 687 loans in force, representing $1,133,917 in value. There had been some eighty-seven properties foreclosed, of which several had been resold.

In reply to Mr. C. F. Davie, the minister said there was a policy to favor loans upon land where there had been improvements made, for which this was wanted to carry along operations.

In reply to Mr. J. W. Jones Mr. Barrow said that there was included in these figures submitted loans issued under the Agricultural Credits Act. Under this heading there were 177 loans amounting to $873,600 and of these 249 were still in force, representing $509,270. There had been paid off 194 loans of $370,530, or thirty-five per cent. There had been thirty-four foreclosures, representing $55,800.

Mr. Jones asked if the greater part of the arrears under this system had not been after the first three years of their issue.

Mr. Davie asked if the policy was one not to assist the old established farmer.

SITUATION IN COWICHAN

"They do not need it," said the minister.

Mr. Davie contended that in his district there were old-time farmers who did need assistance.

The minister asked if Mr. Davie would approve of paying the debts of these farmers and move them out.

Mr. Davie pointed out that he had not suggested deportation. That was the proposal of the minister who suggested deporting what he called the "misfits" and the "never do wells."

The minister's milk bill might benefit the Fraser Valley farmers, said Mr. Davie, but he wanted it understood that all the farmers were not in the Fraser nor the Okanagan. The minister as far as aiding the farmers in Cowichan was beginning at the wrong end.

Hon. T. G. Coventry wanted to know why there was proposed to be a duplicate administration, one under the Land Settlement Board and another under the Dominion Farm Loans.

The minister thought this would be changed later.

With conditions in the farming industry described as anything but flourishing Mr. Pooley said he wished to know why the farmers had been overcharged in interest on the loans.

CANADIENS HAND NEW YORK RANGERS SETBACK

English Marathoner Surmounts Elements To Lead "Hoofers"

Forty-Four-Year-Old Veteran Shows Remarkable Stamina in "Cross Country" Pyle's Race —Leads Field by An Hour

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

MOJAVE WELLS, Cal., March 8.—The blistering sun and chill winds of the Mojave desert were surmounted with ease today by forty-four-year-old Arthur Newton, 100-mile running champion of England, to win the fifth lap of thirty-two miles of the coast-to-coast marathon in four hours and forty-eight minutes. His successful battle with wind and sun also put the sinuey runner in first place for total elapsed time in covering the 165 miles reeled off in the five days.

FAR IN FRONT

The lanky British marathoner, who finished second in yesterday's lap from Victorville, crossed the finish line at this desert water camp in the lead of the field of 150 runners and walkers who headed out of Barstow at 8:55 o'clock this morning. He went into the lead half-way to Mojave Wells, passing Earl Dilks, Newcastle, Pa., racer, who had shown his heels to the crowd from the starting point.

Dilks, despite the fast pace he set at the start, finished nearly a half hour after the veteran Newton to take second place. Olli Wantinen, slight Finnish filer, was the third to trek into this tiny waterhole.

Newton, in taking the lead in elapsed time, had a total of twenty-four hours, twenty-eight minutes and thirty seconds.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, came in fourth, having made the trip in five hours, thirty minutes and thirty seconds, and brought his elapsed time to twenty-nine hours, forty-two minutes and thirty-five seconds.

GRADS THRILL LONDON FANS

Olympic Ice Hockey Champions Defeat Englishmen, 11 to 4, in Exhibition Match

WILL BE PRESENTED TO PRINCE OF WALES

LONDON, March 8.—Toronto Grads, Olympic hockey champions, concluded their triumphal tour at the London Ice Club tonight, by administering an 11-4 defeat upon the English hockey team which competed at the Olympics.

One of the most exclusive London audiences assembled to watch the game, and saw the Englishmen decisively outplayed, despite the fact that three of Grads' subs assisted them against the brilliant Canadians. Frank Sullivan, Bert Plaxton and F. Fisher were the players who aided the English team in their efforts to make a good showing against the smooth playing of the Canadian team.

Tomorrow the Canadians will be presented to the Prince of Wales, and following a brief stay in London, the party will then sail for Canada with a record of eight victories, three of them shutout triumphs, against European teams in the Olympic series, and no defeats.

HOOP TEAMS TO GO TO DUNCAN

Normal School Men's Senior "B" Will Meet Duncanites Tonight in Semi-Final for Island Title

CRESCENTS ARE MAKING TRIP

Normal School men's senior "B" hoop quintette will journey to Duncan today to meet the Duncanites in the semi-final of the Vancouver Island championships. The winner of this game will meet Nanaimo in the first of the home-and-home series for the Island title.

Crescents Intermediate "B" five will also make the trip to meet Duncan intermediates in the semi-final for the Vancouver Island championship. The winner will meet the up-Island champions in a sudden death game for the Island honors.

Local fans are looking for a double victory. The students have a strong aggregation, and one that should give the up-Islanders a merry battle. Crescents are one of the snappiest intermediate teams seen here for many years, and followers feel confident they will be capable of downing Duncan.

EDMONTON GIRL SHATTERS TWO HOOP RECORDS

EDMONTON, March 8 — Two world's records were smashed here today when Miss Margaret McBurney, brilliant defence player of the Edmonton Grads, world's champion basketball team, hurled fifty-seven baskets out of sixty-three throws in the McDougall High School gymnasium before six witnesses.

In addition, Miss McBurney smashed the world's record, which she herself set in 1927, by making thirty-five baskets in succession. Her previous mark was thirty-three.

Miss Maskokoyano, of the Takehavacho Higher Girls' School of Tokio, Japan, previously held the record with fifty-six out of sixty tries.

Lands Twenty-Seven Fish at Brentwood

Boxing Head Mixes In Politics and His Resignation Asked

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 8. — Gerardo Sierra, president of the South American Boxing Federation, mixed politics with pugilism and now his resignation has been demanded.

He wrote an article for La Critica, Buenos Aires newspaper, expressing dislike for the present Chilean Government. Because of this, the Chilean Federation passed a resolution asking for the resignation and characterizing his remarks as highly improper and unpatriotic.

At the Cincinnati Reds' camp at Orlando, Manager Jack Hendricks planned to call upon C. J. McDiarmid, club president, in an effort to hasten the signing of Carl Mays and Pete Donohue, pitchers.

Bob Meusel, outfielder, arrived at the St. Petersburg quarters of the New York Yankees today, while Earl Combs, outfielder, and Waite Hoyt, hold-out pitcher, are expected Sunday. WHILE trolling off Discovery Island Wednesday for Spring salmon, Ned Williams hooked and landed a 180-pound halibut. Catching a halibut on a troll is not an uncommon occurrence, but to for spring salmon, Ned Williams landed in the Strait is unusual.

According to fishermen, the halibut grounds off Discovery Island are coming to their own again. For some time catches were poor, but recently some good hauls have been reported.

TRAIL ADVANCES IN ALLAN CUP PLAY-OFF SERIES

B.C. Champions Down Alberta in Deciding Hockey Match, 5 to 4

Prairie Team Puts Up Stiff Opposition in Final Tilt, But Fail to Overcome Lead—Interiorites Win Series, 14-7

TRAIL, March 8.—Trail Smoke Eaters, British Columbia amateur hockey champions, will represent the Far Western end of the Dominion in the Allan Cup play-down series. Tonight, in the second game of the British Columbia-Alberta championship series, they defeated Canmore, Alberta champions, 5-4, in a closely contested exhibition, Having won the first contest by a 9-3 score, Trail won the round, 14-7.

Canmore, as was anticipated, came back strong tonight, and until the final gong the score was in doubt, although it was generally conceded that the miners could not overcome Trail's six-goal lead in the first game.

Trail, by winning, will travel to Saskatoon, where she will meet Delisle, Saskatchewan champions.

WIND OUT OF SAILS

Canmore took the wind out of Trail fans' sails in the opening minutes of the first period. Almost before Trail could get going, Sihvon and Wright had put the Alberta champions two goals up. All happened within two minutes.

Trails' combination began to work and Kendall and Mackie came in fast after seven minutes. Kendall poked for the goal and Mackie scored on the rebound for Trail's opening counter. At 12:10, Howard Anderson put it behind Riva. Big Jim Hanson put Trail in the lead when he fooled the Canmore defence and went right in on Riva to score within two minutes of the period end.

In the second period Sihvon and Wright again scared the Trail aggregation. Within four minutes this pair had not only tied the score, but they put Canmore one up. Sihvon tallied first in 2:45, and Wright came in again in exactly one minute to put Alberta ahead. Wheatley gladdened Trail hearts near the end of the period. He went down with Reddick and went in for a hard shot. The disc rebounded and Wheatley slammed it home, tying the score, four-all, at the end of the period.

FAST TWO PERIODS

Play, lightning fast for two periods, was slower in the third. Carl Kendall put Trail safely in the lead at 17:45, when he snapped in Brennan's pass with an easy poke shot. That ended the scoring and the series.

The line-up:

Canmore		Trail

JORDAN RIVER OFF FOR TEST

Local Cage Team Will Battle Varsity in New Westminster Tonight in B.C. Play-Offs

WINNERS TO MEET KELOWNA FIVE

Jordan River men's senior "A" cage team, Vancouver Island and City League champions, left last night for Vancouver to enter the play-off for provincial honors. They will meet Varsity tonight at New Westminster in a sudden death match. The winner will travel to Kelowna to meet the Interior champions in the final for the British Columbia championship.

The local team went through a light workout at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium last night before boarding the midnight boat for Vancouver. Manager Art Linskill feels confident that the Riverites will make a good showing and force the issue all the way. Varsity gained the right to meet the local champions after a stubborn fight with the Adanacs.

Those making the trip in addition to the manager are N. Forbes, J. McKenzie, A. Tervo, A. Boyd (captain), L. Fatt, G. Willoughby and T. Wachter.

VARSITY STRONG

VANCOUVER, March 8.—Varsity basketers will have their strongest team in on the floor at New Westminster Arena Friday evening when they feed Jordan River in a sudden death game for the Coast championship. The Island five are reputed to be a fast husky bunch of basketers and evidently will require plenty of stopping. The collegians are confident of winning, but having heard of the wonderful time shown visiting teams in Kelowna, are taking no chances on losing the excursion. They will be out to win from the start.

CONQUISTADOR COMES THROUGH

Fast Starter and Fast Stopper Forgets Relapse and Beats Out Kit Carson

(Special to The Colonist.)

TIJUANA RACE TRACK, March 8.—Cowboy Irwin's Conquistador, for quite a spell rated as the fastest starter and, also the fastest quitter, forgot his relapse today and came clear through without a challenger at his heels. Kit Carson, heavily supported in the ring, was put to rout and only managed to reach a poor second position.

Herbert, an ancient mariner, and Pookanaka, a first appearance Hawaiian, gave the public a chance to gaze on box-car figures. A good ride by the eastern jockey, Hardy, helped the queer-monikered horse to outneck the well played Dr. Crabtree. Pookanaka paid $44.80 and Herbert $45.

Some of them threw stones at the light cavalry which guarded the place, whereupon the troopers fired.

All was said to be quiet here tonight.

Walter Hagen Talks It Over

Bobby Jones Praised for Declining $50,000 Gift—All Amateurs on "Level"

By WALTER HAGEN

National Professional Golf Champion.

(Copyright, 1928, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, March 8.—(Special)—It may seem presumptuous for a professional to discuss the amateur rule in golf, but having some knowledge of this intricate situation I offer a few remarks. First, I congratulate Bobby Jones for declining to accept the $50,000 home from his Atlanta friends. He has turned down many other opportunities, and there is no doubt that in Jones the United States Golf Association has its foremost ally in the effort to keep the amateurs on the up and up.

I do not know of a more determined amateur than Bobby Jones. And, likewise, I do not know an amateur more willing to help the professionals. He has been particularly kind to me, having appeared in matches in which I was the sole beneficiary. In a singles match with Bobby in Florida, in 1925, I received $6,800, by far the largest amount of money a professional golfer ever got for one match, and a figure likely to stand for some time.

NOT AFTER PAY

I am very well acquainted with the leading amateurs of America. I have played against them in my exhibition tours, in all sections, and I never met one who wanted pay of any sort. As matches with leading amateurs are good attractions, I personally have benefited no little by such games.

I cannot think of anyone better able to judge the real spirit of the amateurs of America than myself, and the United States Golf Association is very fortunate in having such real sportsmen heading the list in amateur golf.

I am acquainted with every amateur golfer in the United States of any great prominence, and there isn't one who has ever tried to make money out of his reputation in any way contrary to the rules of the association.

It is, however, absolutely impossible for crack amateurs not to benefit in some way as a result of prowess on the links, and no rule will ever prevent this. For sports leaders attract attention and friends, and many of the friends are eager to help the starts, no matter what business they are in. If it wasn't this way, being a star amateur golfer would work a hardship on a man, for people might shy at doing business with him for fear a wrong interpretation would be placed on the motive.

The only possible way for a really first class amateur not to benefit as a result of his ability to play golf would be for him to don a set of false whiskers, take another name, move a thousand miles from his home city, and then give up golf. He would simply have to become somebody else. It is easy to name many ways in which an amateur can benefit because of his prowess, and there is no denying that many amateurs have bettered their position in life because of good work on the links. In fact, it is always a question now with a good young municipal course golfer where he will find the most success, as a professional golfer or in business. Most of these decide, very wisely, upon a business career.

PUBLICITY GOOD

Ability to play golf well enough to win a city championship or a club championship, let alone a state title, or to make a showing in a national event, gives a player publicity he could not obtain in any other manner. And this publicity, even if only local, is advantageous to him in almost any business he takes up. It makes the player well known.

Such a man has an edge when it comes to selling anything, from automobiles to bonds. He has the entree where others have none. Imagine, for example, anyone sending out word by the office boy that he was too busy to see Bobby Jones, not that Bobby or any amateur would take advantage of his position, but all these men have to make business calls, and if they fail to benefit in any other way, they must save a lot of time less well-known men have to spend in waiting rooms.

KENORA THISTLES TAKE SLIM LEAD

WINNIPEG, March 8.—The Kenora Thistles gained a one-goal advantage over the Elmwood Millionaires, of Winnipeg, in the first game of the Manitoba-Thunder Bay junior hockey series here tonight. Thistles defeated Millionaires, 3-2.

COAST WILL GET 1928 DOMINION BILLIARD FINAL

VANCOUVER, March 6.—The Canadian finals for the English billiards title will be played in the West, probably Vancouver, in 1928. This announcement was made tonight by C. A. L. Payne, who returned from the East today after having succeeded in defending his title and bringing back the coveted Brunswick-Balk-Collender trophy. "I was assured by Dubley Waters, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Billiards Association, that the British Columbia champion will not have to travel a single mile next year," explained Payne.

MONARCHS WILL PLAY C.P.R. SQUAD IN TWO EXHIBITIONS

VANCOUVER, March 8.—Sanction of the amateur rulers in British Columbia and Manitoba has been secured for a two-game hockey series between the Winnipeg Canadian Pacific Railway team of the Big Four Senior League and the Monarchs, Vancouver champions. The games are to be held in Vancouver Wednesday, March 14, and Friday, March 16. The Winnipeg boys have been going great guns in the Prairie city amateur league this Winter, where the Simon-pures have been drawing crowds of 5,000 spectators and over to every game. They arrive in Vancouver Tuesday under the managership of Jimmie Gordon, of Winnipeg, in time for a couple of light workouts before they tangle with the local Monarchs.

Moose Jaw Wins

MOOSE JAW, March 8.—Moose Jaw Maroons tonight succeeded in edging out Sparrow and his tribe of Capitals from Regina, 3-2, in a Prairie League game.

WEREN'T ANY PROFITS

Ernest Vierkotter, German swimmer, who won the $30,000 prize by winning the Toronto swim, says his expenses ate up practically all the profits. His expenses, he says, were $28,500.

Hunter Will Meet Hennessy in Final

PALM BEACH, March 8.—F. T. Hunter met stiff opposition in the semi-finals of the Florida tennis championship tournament today, but won out over Frank X. Shields, New York, 6-3, 10-8, 6-2.

Earlier in the day John Hennessy, of Indianapolis, trimmed L. B. Rice, Newton Centre, 7-5, 6-1, and will meet Hunter for the title tomorrow.

"Aftermath"

By MRS. J. O. ARNOLD

CHAPTER IV.

After a restless night in her strange bed and new surroundings, Norma, instead of indulging in late hours, got up earlier than usual. She had Bunny to dress—a new experience for her. To have had a nurse would have been to spoil her whole scheme. She wanted her boy all to herself—to do everything for him, to watch him grow like a flower, to see his baby intelligence widen. All this had been denied her hitherto by sheer poverty—the necessity of earning daily food. The motherly soul to whose care she confided the child had done her duty in a manner beyond praise. But those brief week-ends and bank holidays spent with her baby were all too short. A little more of them and she foresaw that Nanny would unwittingly usurp her place, would be "Mummie" to the child, whilst she herself remained an outsider who came from nowhere and disappeared again. If benisons could reach deceased Uncle John in his present state of being, certain it was that he must be blessed indeed.

Bunny was still asleep when her toilet was completed. She went to his cot, and stood looking down upon him, his soft cheeks flushed with sleep, his short golden curls all rumpled, the little dimpled hands so perfectly shaped with filbert hands like Hilary's . . . She resisted an impetuous desire to take him up then and there and cover him with kisses. He was hers, hers and Hilary's, and she worshipped his little perfect body . . .

He was a posthumous child, born after his father had been posted as missing. Norma had borne her loss, after the first inexpressible grief, with stoic calm, intent only upon one purpose, one achievement, Hilary's child should not suffer through any abandonment to selfish grief on her part. She had a trust to fulfill, a vital duty to perform. With self-control that amounted to heroism, she schooled her emotions and devoted herself wholly to Hilary's unborn child.

It was a time of horror. Suffering, loss, fear, and death obsessed the minds of all. It was hard to escape from the prevailing atmosphere of sheer dreadfulness. Yet Norma Trayle, having set her resolve upon one object, neither swerved nor faltered. She had firm faith in the immense importance attaching to pre-natal influences. To slacken in that belief might be to injure Hilary's child. And lest her strength should fail her, she called upon love to help her.

This child of a great love should be worthy of that love. To this end, thinking of the physical body so mysteriously, so wonderfully developing day by day, she kept ever before her remembrance of a lovely child-face painted by a great master. She had a copy of this picture in her room, and never tired of looking upon its beauty. To her inward vision were revealed "clouds of glory." It was to her embodiment of perfect childhood—an image undefaced.

Through the dark days that followed, her resolution was to her a shining light. All her thoughts, words, and actions went to the shaping and fulfilling of her purpose.

Then the baby came, and in answer to her inquiry—not made in lack of faith, but for the deep satisfying of her mother-hunger—she was told that he was a lovely and perfect child, she closed her eyes, and, after a voiceless thanksgiving, had silently confided to Hilary, who, though dead, she believed would hear her. "He has come, darling—our little child, our son. He is all perfect and beautiful." And a great happiness encompassing her, she had taken the baby to her heart and fallen asleep.

A new mail-cart had been ordered for Bunny before leaving, but at the time of starting, it had not arrived. Doubtless it would come on by an early train, but in the meantime he must be carried. Impossible to keep him indoors this fresh Spring morning! Norma started off with the boy in her arms, too happy in having him all to herself to worry about his weight, which was considerable.

"He'll be too heavy for you, ma'am," Barbary said, "ivery yard you go he'll tek on more weight. Which way did you think o' goin,' and when I've churned I'll come and meet you."

"Toward the Grange. That's downhill, isn't it?"

"Yes. There's a bench for folks to rest on and git their breath before mountin' the hill, fair opposite the Grange gates. If you sit there, ma'am, I'll come along presently and carry the baby home for you."

Norma thanked her and started off down the lane.

She could not rest until she had seen something of Hilary's old home. That it had been very dear to him she knew from his reticences as much as from what he had said. She wanted to be able to picture him as a child here in these surroundings. That would give her complete knowledge of him—of all that had gone to the shaping of him—his character and personality. He had been hers for so short a time that the early chapters of his life had scarcely been touched upon. A whole volume of his past lay open for her reading, here in this remote, unchanged old home of his.

Later on she might come to know the house intimately. That would involve meeting Hilary's father and mother . . .

By the time she reached the bottom of the hill she was quite ready to avail herself of the bench thoughtfully provided for wayfarers.

Before her were the entrance gates of the Grange.

Of the house itself little was visible but grey chimneys, for the most part ivy clad.

To Norma the place was almost holy ground. Hilary had once described it to her—but the reality transcended any picture she had imagined of it. So peaceful and lovely, so serene an sequestered was Hilary's old home. If she might have known it with him . . . As it was, she would see it, learn to love it, and then leave it to its serenity.

She had given Bunny a spray of young sycamore to play with. He waved it about, cooed over it, happy as a king. Jock, panting from a scamper in pursuit of a too-venturesome infant rabbit, which, however, eluded him by popping into an opportune burrow whither he could not follow, sat blinking in the sun, not too pleased by this early halt.

Norma placed the utmost confidence in him to preserve her and Bunny from the perils of the country. On one point she willingly admitted that London had the advantage. There was little or no danger of meeting cows in the West End—their prevalence in rural places was an undoubted drawback. The fact that they were usually in charge of an infant of tender years, armed solely with a slender sapling, had no effect upon her. She suspected all cows of being bulls, and took no risks.

Her thoughts were diverted from the possibility of an encounter by the appearance of a tall woman, dressed in black, walking at a leisurely pace along the drive. Instinct told Norma that this could be none other than Hilary's mother.

Instinct was right. Mrs. Denison reached the gate and came out into the lane, followed by an Irish terrier. A moment earlier Norma had set Bunny upon his fat little feet, and he was now toddling along with the help of the bench, to which he held firmly with both chubby hands.

Jock arose with alacrity to take the measure of the terrier, his stiff tail wagging in anticipation of a meeting. Unfortunately the encounter was not altogether friendly, and in less time than it takes to tell the dogs were fighting.

Mrs. Denison called her Paddy to order, and Norma did her best with Jock. Finally they were separated, and the Irish terrier handed over to the care of the lodge-keeper.

"I'm so sorry," Norma said, "Jock's a shocking fighter. I'm glad it's no worse. Sometimes he's just like a bulldog. Nothing makes him let go, once he's got a grip."

Mrs. Denison smiled. "I know, I've seen them. However, there's no harm done, and they'll be better friends presently." Then with a glance at Bunny, joyously trotting along, "Are you staying at 'Scutcheon Farm, I wonder?"

Norma explained that she had arrived there the previous night.

"Mrs. Trayle then? I imagined so. We so seldom see strangers in Ryedale that seeing your little boy I guessed you might be the expected visitor. What a darling child!"

She crossed over to the bench, and stooped to kiss the boy. Bunny, his big eyes wide, met her with an engaging smile. He knew at once that this new person loved little boys, and put a confiding hand in hers.

Norma's face hardened a shade. If Hilary's mother knew!

"After our usual gossiping manner," Mrs. Denison said, "I have been told that you come from London. But your little boy looks bonny enough to have been brought up in the country. He is the picture of health."

Norma found the encounter less easy than she had anticipated. She looked at the pair, hand in hand, already subtly drawn together . . .

A queer idea came into her head. What if Mrs. Denison were able to read her thoughts! Such things did happen. Only a few weeks ago she had gone to a species of seance at which an elderly medium had described to her accurately and with remarkable detail the personal appearance of her dead father and mother. He had added certain details relating to family affairs which no outsider could possibly have known. Norma had been much impressed, and had told the story to a sceptical friend.

"How do you explain that?" she had demanded triumphantly. "How could he know?"

"Easiest thing in the world, my dear lady," the unbeliever had answered calmly. "He knew because you told him." And had proceeded to explain that the whole thing was simply a piece of thought reading. It was a perfectly horrid thing if one could not safeguard one's very thoughts.

Mrs. Denison's appearance, however, reassured her, put the momentary panic to flight. Her calm expression in no way resembled the nervous, worked-up appearance of the elderly thought reader.

She had taken Bunny on her knee. He was investigating with grave interest a long chain with a flat gold locket attached, the pretty bright thing having caught his baby attention.

"This dear little child," Mrs. Denison said, "reminds me of my son when he was the same age." Her voice grew tender. "To a mother her children are always the babies they once were," she added, stroking the child's chubby hand.

Norma held out her arms, inviting Bunny to come to her.

"I think we must start up the hill now," she said. "The farmer's daughter, Barbary, promised to come and help me, but I think we mustn't wait any longer. Perhaps the butter has gone wrong. She seems such a good-natured girl—I'm sure she would have come if she could——"

"Shall we walk together? I was going to the farm purposely to see Barbary. Let me carry him a little way, at any rate."

6. MOTOR-ELIXIR does not foul the spark plugs, no matter how heavy the mixture.
7. MOTOR-ELIXIR keeps the engine free of carbon and will soften a carbon deposit already in the engine, allowing the carbon to be discharged through the exhaust.
8. MOTOR-ELIXIR will cure any case of sticky valves in two minutes.
9. MOTOR-ELIXIR eliminates friction on the valves and upper cylinder walls, prevents excessive wear, and keeps the motor cooler.
10. MOTOR-ELIXIR provides a perfect oil film around the moving parts, giving better compression and more power.
11. MOTOR-ELIXIR gives increased mileage due to elimination of carbon, better compression, and the elimination of friction is about 15 to 25 per cent.

Co-optimists to Give Double Bill At Crystal Garden

MRS. LEGGE-WILLIS

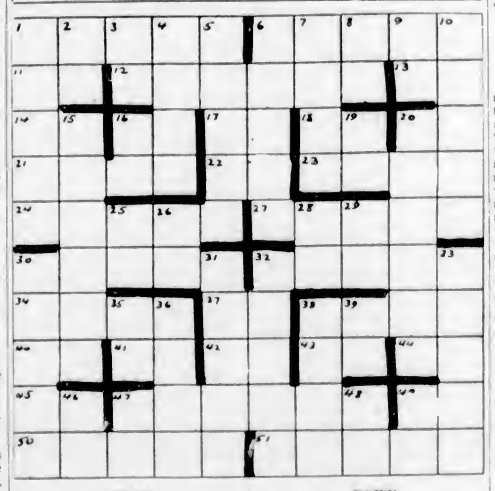

Friday theatregoers at the Crystal Garden have shown such wholehearted approval of the "double bill" that the Co-optimist Comedy Company is repeating this favorite form of entertainment this evening. At 8:30 the curtain will rise upon a short one-act farce dealing with the tete-a-tete of a couple of guests given for the patients of a lunatic asylum. Miss Mary Campbell and Mr. Richard Blomfield will offer in this witty play ten minutes of hysterical dialogue.

The main attraction of the evening will be a rollicking farce entitled "The Duchess of Bayswater." The cast is an exceptionally strong one and the play is a satirical skit upon the necessity of the present-day aristocracy for entering the realms of trade. Mrs. Legge-Willis will play the party of the commercialized duchess, and Mr. Legge-Willis will take the part of the crusty old gentleman who is intolerant of the new order of things. Miss Lorna Lewin, Mr. Noel Jones and Mr. Stephen Langton all have parts that contribute much good humor and witty repartee.

The evening's entertainment concludes with two hours of dancing.

Famed Waikiki Beach, Honolulu, is to have a new concrete hotel costing $1,500,000.

Playhouse—The Royal Opera Co.
Crystal Garden — Swimming, and dancing.

VARIETY THEATRE In "Shore Leave," now at the Variety Theatre, Richard Barthelmess, who has been everything from a Chinaman to a broken-down wreck of the war on the screen, adds another unique characterization to his growing list of "different" performances. In this photoplay version of Hubert Osborne's successful stage play Barthelmess has the part of "Bilge" Smith, a romantic gob of the United States navy. Buck Jones is starred in a thrilling story of the Canadian snow-country, "30 Below Zero," also at the Variety today.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Again Tom Mix scores triumphantly in a fine Western drama, "The Arizona Wildcat," which had its local premiere at the Columbia Theatre yesterday. In this latest Fox Films release, Tom and his horse Tony have an unusually good story in which to display their talents. It was written especially for them by Adela Rogers St. Johns, well known author of best selling fiction. It is a thrilling romance, crammed with adventure, and deals with a gang of Eastern crooks who are West selling fake bonds.

COLISEUM THEATRE "Two Flaming Youths," the initial Paramount production co-starring W. C. Fields and Chester Conklin, each a favorite in his own right, is now showing at the Coliseum Theatre. In this comedy, an amusing series of romantic and business complications, in which the owner of a circus side show and a small town sheriff battle for the love of a wealthy widow, Fields and Conklin have roles well suited to their respective abilities at creating fun. "Hula," also showing at the Coliseum, brings Clara Bow back again. This time, as may be imagined, the star is a girl of the islands who—but all can guess what happens when—oh, what's the use? Clara Bow is starred! Clive Brook is featured! Victor Fleming directed! Paramount produced it and the picture's name is "Hula!"

DOMINION THEATRE There is very little war in Herbert Brenon's production of "Sorrell and Son," current film at the Dominion Theatre, but what there is was supervised by filmdom's leading authority on military scenes, according to the director. Lieut.-Col. Geoffrey L. McDonnell, World War hero and technical expert during the filming of many pictures, assisted Brenon on the few flashes of hostilities in "Sorrell and Son," Warwick Deeping's novel of father and son devotion. Mc-Donnell also plays the role of an English general in the war scenes. Having served throughout the South African and World Wars, Colonel McDonnell is one of the bona fide survivors of the Canadian Princess Pats.

CAPITOL THEATRE A total of 576,000 feet of celluloid was used in the making of Paramount's gigantic production of "Beau Sabreur," the sequel of Percival C. Wren's "Beau Geste," now showing to delighted audiences at the Capitol Theatre. It took three months to make the picture, and an average of 800 feet of film were taken every day by each of the eight cameras on the photographic battery. Figuring on a camera schedule of ninety days, the 576,000 feet of film is the result.

"The Blood Ship" Comes to Variety on Monday, March 12

Adventure, mutiny, the rough-and-ready life of the sailor before the mast, and a haunting romance are the ingredients worked into "The Blood Ship," Columbia Pictures specially produced drama about those who went down to the sea in clipper ships, in the days when "hell ships" were a reality, and a captain admitted no higher authority than himself. This pretentious picture, which had its world premiere at the Roxy Theatre in New York City, comes to the Variety Theatre on Monday next for a week's run. It boasts a superlative cast headed by Hobart Bosworth, Jacqueline Logan and Richard Arlen, the latter having been "loaned" to Columbia Pictures for the part by Paramount-Famous-Lasky. George B. Seitz, known best for "The Vanishing American," directed.

Game Wardens Are Hired and Dismissed By Order-in-Council

The record of Constable C. Wentworth Smythe, now game warden at Revelstoke, but formerly stationed at Princeton and Golden, was again the subject of investigation by Opposition members when Major Furber, chief game inspector for the province, was called before the Public Accounts Committee of the House.

Major Furber stated he had no power to discharge game wardens. They were appointed and dismissed by order-in-council. His duty was to keep the men of his department "up to their work." If their work was not satisfactory, he reported them to Colonel McMullin, Superintendent of Provincial Police, but never to the Attorney-General.

CAPT. DOLLAR VISITS CITY

California Shipping Magnate Here With Mrs. Dollar on Way to Vancouver From San Francisco

RUTH ALEXANDER BRINGS LARGE LIST

CAPT. ROBERT DOLLAR

Aboard the Pacific Steamship Company's coastwise liner, Ruth Alexander, which docked here last evening from California, was Captain Robert Dollar, one of the best known shipowners on the Pacific Coast, with Mrs. Dollar, bound for Vancouver.

Captain Dollar was born at Falkirk, Scotland, nearly eighty-four years ago, and came to Canada with his parents at the age of twelve. His first job, that of a laborer in a stave mill, paid him $6 a month. After many years in the lumber business he came out to the Coast in 1893 and established his first sawmill. In 1901 he bought his first boat, the Arab, which he used to carry lumber cargoes, the foundation of his present vast fortune.

Captain Dollar is the original of "Cappy Ricks," appearing in stories by Peter B. Kyne, published both in magazine and book form. It will be remembered that Cappy Ricks was a peppery old steamship magnate who pretended to be a tyrant in order to hide the fact that his heart was of gold.

The venerable shipowner takes a deep interest in church work and park beautification, being a park commissioner at Sausolito, near San Francisco. His only form of recreation is an occasional business trip on one of his thirty-two deep-sea vessels or motoring through California. The Captain never plays golf for he considers that he has no time for it.

He was met here by Mr. W. M. Allan, local agent for the Dollar Line and the Pacific Steamship Company, operators of the Ruth Alexander.

There were 113 passengers for this port aboard the Ruth Alexander, a record number since last Autumn. Fifty-five tons of cargo were set down here before the vessel proceeded to Seattle.

Outbound for California, the Ruth Alexander will sail from here at noon on Sunday instead of 9 o'clock in the morning as usual. She is scheduled to arrive from Seattle at 11 o'clock.

LIFEBOAT USED AS AMBULANCE

Staff at Tofino Answer Call for Help—Take Injured Settler to Hospital

TOFINO, March 8.—Mr. Harry Rudkin, an old settler in this district, where he has a pre-emption on Cypress Bay, met with a painful accident on Saturday evening last. As he was about to return home on the power boat Calm Creek, his foot slipped on the companion ladder and he was precipitated into the engine room, sustaining a severe injury to one of his knees.

Doctor Dixon was immediately called in and after a thorough examination of the wounded member, decided that it was a case for hospital treatment, as some of the ligaments appeared to be ruptured.

He recommended that he should be sent to the West Coast Hospital at Port Alberni, and, as there were no boats or other means of transportation available, a call was made on the services of the Tofino lifeboat, to which Captain David McKenzie responded with seamanlike alacrity, and leaving here at about 11 o'clock, he delivered the patient in Port Alberni before 8 o'clock in the morning, the distance traversed during the night being about seventy miles.

MARKETING BILL PASSES COMMITTEE

The Produce Marketing Bill passed the committee stage in the Legislature last evening. An amendment by Mr. J. R. Colley, seeking to alter the bill with respect to arbitration proceedings, was lost.

The bill as introduced provides for arbitration either under the Arbitration Act or apart from that as agreed upon between the shipper and the committee.

Mr. Colley sought to allow an appeal to a judge of the Supreme Court or to a judge of the County Court.

The bill passed the committee stage with only a few amendments introduced by Dr. Wrinch, who is in charge of the bill.

Liquor Runners Will Fear This Customs Vessel

VANCOUVER, March 8.—Builder's trials of the Canadian customs deep-sea speedboat Dispatcher were held on Burrard Inlet yesterday afternoon, and the vessel performed satisfactorily. Designed for thirty knots, she probably made it, though her speed was not officially logged. However, she ran alongside the new customs harbor patrol vessel, Imperator, which made 26 1-4 miles on her trials last week. The Dispatcher overhauled and passed the Imperator on Wednesday.

The boat is forty-nine feet long, ten and one-half feet beam, and is powered with two 200-horsepower engines. She was built by S. R. Wallace, North Vancouver, and is a very handsome and seaworthy craft.

SS. MAUNA ALA TO SAIL WEST

Matson Navigation Co. Freight Steamer Will Take Out Large Seattle Cargo

SEATTLE, March 8.—The freight steamship Mauna Ala, of the Matson Navigation Company, will complete loading at the Union Pacific dock and is scheduled to sail for Honolulu, Port Allen and Kaanapali, Hawaii, Friday afternoon, carrying heavy consignments of flour, feed, furniture and other products of Northwest manufacture, including nearly a million feet of lumber. The big carrier will also have three mules to be used for plantation work on the Island of Kauai. Cargo was assembled in Bellingham and Tacoma, in addition to that being shipped from this port.

The Mauna Ala arrived on Puget Sound Monday from Hawaii, coming by way of San Francisco, her inward cargo having consisted of 15,000 cases of canned pineapple, 1,200 tons of molasses, 3,500 bags of refined sugar and a quantity of miscellaneous commodities.

The steamer Makaweli, operated in the Hawaiian lumber trade exclusively by the Matson Navigation Company, arrived in Grays Harbor Thursday and will load 1,600,000 feet of Northwest lumber at Aberdeen and Hoquiam before proceeding to Knappton on the Columbia River to finish off her cargo for Hawaii. Before coming north the Makaweli loaded redwood at Eureka on her way from San Francisco.

Charles B. Warren, assistant manager of Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., Northwest general agents for the Matson Navigation Company's interests, will leave for San Francisco Saturday to confer with headquarters' executives of the line.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Advertising Wins Prize

A SIGNAL tribute has been paid by Harvard University to the quality of Canadian advertising by the selection of the Diamond Jubilee campaign of the Canadian Pacific Railway as the best institutional campaign in North America for the year 1927.

An award of this nature is made each year by the Harvard Business School with the object of raising the standard of advertising, and includes a cheque of $2,000 to the advertising agency which handles the campaign. The fortunate winner in this case is Mr. W. P. Tuttle, president of the Ronalds Advertising Agency, of Montreal. This is the first occasion in which a Canadian campaign has been so honored. The announcement was made at a banquet held recently at the Faculty Club of Harvard. The Canadian Pacific campaign was unique in the fact that it was bilingual, the advertisements being in both French and English. It illustrated and described the part played by the railway in helping to build up the Dominion of Canada during the sixty years of Confederation and was cleverly built up on the idea of the open pages of a book.

A sample of this advertising is reproduced above, clearly depicting transportation methods of Canada's childhood and that of today.

PROFIT-TAKING HALTS ADVANCE

Major Speculative Activity Turns Again to Upside, But General List Is Mixed —Motor Gain

TREASURY BONDS PUT ON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 8.—Major speculative activity in today's stock market was again on the upside, but heavy profit-taking sales slowed up the advance.

General Motors established a new high record for the fifth consecutive season at 151½, closing a point below that level for a small fractional gain; and several public utilities and oils reached new high ground, but the general market was mixed.

United States Steel common fluctuated within a very narrow range, closing fractionally higher at 141⅜. Youngstown Sheet & Tube broke more than three to a new year low at 85¼. Most of the other steels showed only fractional changes.

Hudson was again prominent in the motor groups, touching another new high at 90¾, then selling off about a point from that level. Other active motors showed fractional changes.

Malliston common advanced to a new top at 26¾ on buying influenced by reports of expanding earnings. New peak prices also were recorded by the Atlantic Gulf and West Indes issues; Butterick, Morse preferred, Owen Bottle and several other specialties. Sinclair and Sun Oils reached new high ground.

Trading in the foreign exchange market was dull and colorless. Sterling cables ruled around $4.87 27-32.

Announcement of the treasury's March 15 financing at 3¼ and 3⅜ per cent for short term securities was reflected in today's market by firm prices for government and other high grade bonds.

Numerous other issues closed from one to two points lower.

Winnipeg Grain

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, March 8.—The local wheat market was mostly very dull today. Opening prices were about unchanged and the market held steady during the first part with a fair volume of buying by a leading Continental house, which was sufficient to absorb the light offerings and take any slack out of the market. After this class of buying was finished, there was no feature to the market, the support being purely local, but in the late trade there appeared to be some further liquidation by longs, and prices declined about 3-4c. Seaboard estimated wheat sales in all positions overnight at 700,000 to 800,000 bushels of Manitobas and durums with some small sales of rye. There was practically nothing doing in the cash market. Offerings were more liberal than they have been for some time, with farmers selling their holdings, but buyers backed away with the result that the spreads on four, five, six and feed grades declined about one cent. These are the grades that have been in most demand. A large grain company with elevators throughout the West, issued a report today on the Canadian wheat situation. Basing last year's crop in Western Canada at 425,000,000 bushels they estimate there is still 202,000,000 bushels in this country to spare for export after all home requirements have been provided for. Other elevator interests believe the crop was even larger. Conditions over Winter wheat territory were improved today with higher temperatures and good precipitation over a wide area. Crop damage reports were less numerous and this feature seems to have played out for the time being. Considerable snow has fallen over the three Western provinces the past two days and more is promised, which will be of great benefit, as the snow covering had mostly disappeared. Winnipeg futures closed 7-8 to 5-8 lower, May and October being the weakest months.

Coarse Grains—Trade was rather draggy in these markets today with the demand rather slow. Prices were very firm during the first part of the day, but some scattered liquidation appeared and prices eased off. Oats closed 3-8 to 1-2 lower. Barley about 1-2 lower and rye 1-4 to 3-4 lower.

Flax displayed a firm tone with closing figures 1-4 to 1-8 up.

New York Stock Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, March 8.—The market was more orderly today and in the late afternoon became somewhat easier under profit-taking. General Motors rallied to a new high for the year. Also Hudson Motors, Willys-Overland and Packard were strong, the strong spots early in the independent group. The oil section was featured by a rally reflecting the conservation programme of State authorities and oil producers in California designed to shut 70,000 to 80,000 barrels heavy crude daily. Rails were easier. Coppers, though, attract some profit-taking on the early bulge. Steel gave a better account of itself, though Youngstown Sheet and Tube reflected the disappointing earning report, and announcement that the inland merger was off. The stock declined to its low for the year. Among the specialties, Industrial Alcohol, and American Linseed, were in good demand, while Freeport and Radio met a good volume of realizing sales on their early advance. The General Motors report proved to be a favorable document. Governor Young's remarks to the Senate Committee on the credit situation were favorably interpreted. The market in its present stage may attract further profit-taking, especially around or just prior to the middle of the month as a result of the heavy financing programme on foot. Money flurries at this time are a logical anticipation, but we believe that the setbacks that may result will be only temporary, and would be disposed to look for the buying opportunities in selected issues.

Chicago Grain

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, March 8.—Rains in Southwest, some of them in territory not previously relieved, brought some pressure on new crop deliveries. There was closing of some spreads between Chicago and Winnipeg, to the detriment of our market. Strength in March wheat has invited sales of Minneapolis wheat for all-rail shipment to Chicago and Minneapolis May continues at a discount of six cents under Chicago.

Aside from the above market was a waiting affair, waiting for Government figures on reserves.

Liverpool due 1-8 to 3-8 lower.

Rubber Restrictions

PENANG, Straits Settlement, March 8.—The Chamber of Commerce here has passed a resolution urging the continuance of rubber restriction for at least twelve months. The resolution says this will enable research authorities to thoroughly investigate the question.

Bears drove rubber down a shilling in the London market yesterday to the lowest price since 1924 after reports were received from Singapore, Straits Settlement, and Colombo, Ceylon, expressing dissatisfaction with the restrictions. The restrictions were imposed under the Stevenson scheme.

A questionnaire circulated by the Singapore Chamber of Commerce brought forty-seven responses opposed to restrictions and twenty-five favoring it.

"Would you care to follow your former trade?" asked the governor of the new arrival at the prison.

"I certainly would, sir."

"What was it?"

"A sailor, sir."

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

DIET OF FIRST AMERICANS

Many of the best authorities claim that it was in North America the first primate originated. By primate is meant the type of animal which at least first resembled man, whether it was an ape, monkey, ape-man or a sudden development from an ape-man into what was later to be known as man. The North American Indian is doubtless a descendant of this type of first North American primate.

We are able to study back several thousand years in our attempt to understand life of these primative Indians, and the history of their eating habits and food developments should prove interesting to students of modern dietetics.

In the Northern part of this continent the Indians' diet was made up of three-fourths animal food to one-fourth of vegetables. In the Southern part, where there was more growing vegetation the year round, the food used was about three-fourths vegetable. Among the tribes of the coast, mountains, lakes and plains, the proportion of animal and vegetable food varied according to the food supply of that region.

The early white settlers in America found a total lack of dairy food. The diets of the different tribes were always regulated somewhat by local taboos against eating the flesh of certain animals. For instance, an Apache or Navajo would not eat fish nor the flesh of beaver or bear.

For many years the Indians' vegetable supply came mostly from roots, the more succulent of which were eaten raw, the others cooked, often requiring several hours of time to soften some of the hardier roots.

As the Indians learned to till the soil, they cultivated some of these roots and herbs, but their principal contribution to our present dietary was when they learned how to plant and cultivate the wild maize. This Indian corn is one of the original American foods, and the cultivation of this grain by the Indians probably was the first influence which lead to the building of settlements. The early white settlers in New England would probably have starved if it had not been for the plentiful supply of corn which they were able to secure from the Indians.

Many of the Indian tribes used wild roots and herbs because of stern necessity, few of these foods being used at the present time. The North Pacific tribes ate the sweet inner bark of the hemlock and spruce. In the southwest of the continent, yucca fruits, mesquite beans and the agave were important elements of the food supply. Tuckaho and other fungi were used for food by the Eastern Indian. Buffalo and deer meat, together with fish, were the flesh foods commonly used, the woodland tribes depending upon deer, while the coast and river tribes used more fish and other products of the lakes and rivers.

The Irish potato was first cultivated by the Indians, who brought it from South America to Virginia.

The Indians' method of drying meat and their cultivation of corn and potatoes have been the principal contributions to our present dietary from these natives of North America.

Tomorrow's article will explain the evolution of our present American diet.

N.B.C. Pacific Coast Network Announces Interesting Programme for Fans' Entertainment

A quartette of spearmen singing "La Spagnola" will open the Wrigley Review broadcast tonight over the N.B.C. Pacific Coast Network in the hour beginning at 8 o'clock.

"Dancing Stars" will be heard as a xylophone solo, "A Brown Bird Singing" as a tenor solo, "Varsity Drag" from Good News, an accordian solo, "Sometime" from "Sometime" as a soprano solo, and "Why Must You Wear a Moustache" by the Male Duo of Spearmen.

This super-review also brings before the microphone a banjo soloist, a mixed quartette and novelty trio, soprano and tenor duo and stellar soloists.

For brightness, buoyancy and exuberant happiness it will be difficult to find a more fitting programme than the White Rock Concert broadcast from 9 to 9:30 this evening.

With a sparkle of gaiety that is very contagious this programme still retains the balance so essential in a concert atmosphere. The White Rock Concert Orchestra will open the programme with "Lovely Little Silhouette." Other numbers to be played by the orchestra are "Valse Graziosa" and "Two Loving Arms From Just Fancy." The features of the broadcast are the two novelty offerings, Romberg's "Romance" from "The Desert Song," with three violins and piano accompaniment, and the two piano specialty of "Gems," from Gershwin's "Funny Face," which will include "She Loves and He Loves," "One and Only," and "S'Wonderful."

"A Lickpenny Lover," by O. Henry, is the title of the radio drama presented as the Retold Tales feature tonight from 9:30 to 10 o'clock.

An hour of dance music by the N.B.C. Dance Orchestra, with staff artists entertaining during the intermissions, will be broadcast from 10 to 11 p.m. from stations KGW, Portland, KPO, San Francisco, and KFI, Los Angeles.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach suffer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take, and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. (Advt.)

SETTLERS EN ROUTE

WINNIPEG, Man., March 8.—The second contingent of new settlers of the Prairie Provinces of the season arrived here this morning over Canadian Pacific lines, comprising over 250 immigrants from the Old Country, Norway and Sweden and Central European countries. The party arrived at St. John by the Canadian Pacific Montnairn, and came direct to Winnipeg by special train, distribution throughout the West being general. The major portion of the new arrivals today were from points in Norway, Sweden and Central Europe, who will be placed generally, many of whom are going west from Winnipeg to join friends and relatives already established farmers on the Prairies.

Mexican Thrift

MEXICO CITY, March 8.—A price of only five pesos for a murder, which modest figure attracted a considerable clientele, was charged by Gregorio Sanchez, a professional assassin, who has just been wounded and captured near Cholua in the State of Puebla.

A dispatch to El Excelsior says Sanchez has no occupation except assassination and was ready to kill anybody at any time provided the five pesos were forthcoming. He had enough customers to enable him to earn a good living. Police said they found in his pocket, "a sheet of paper half-filled with names of persons he had assassinated."

The dispatch neglected to give any total.

Salient Points of the Play

Following the Spade opening, Declarer has a Small Slam in sight, and should try for the extra trick before the adversaries recognize their danger. The Ace of Hearts is marked with East by the bidding; and unless a Heart trick is put through before the strength of the hand is disclosed, East would jump with the Ace. The lead of the four of Clubs at Trick 2 conceals the Club strength, while the return of the Heart seems to be a step towards the establishment of the Heart suit in Declarer's hand. Thereafter, however, Declarer plays out his winning cards, forcing the adversaries to embarrassing discards and subjecting them to an unescapable squeeze resulting in a Grand Slam.

IRISH TREATY SEQUEL

LONDON, March 8.—A number of Conservative members of the House of Commons are opposed to the Baldwin Government's concurrence in the Irish Free State Parliament's proposed legislation to set aside the recent judgment of the Privy Council with reference to the rights of transferred civil servants in Ireland under the treaty between Great Britain and the Irish Free State, and have passed a resolution regretting the Government's attitude in the matter. They have decided to ask for an explanation with regard to it from Lieut.-Colonel L. C. M. S. Amery, Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, at a special meeting of the Conservative Party.

Private Clubs

Mr. R. H. Pooley made a suggestion on the vote for the Attorney-General's office that before private clubs were incorporated that the mayor and city council should be consulted before they were granted.

The Attorney-General replied that he was not opposed to this plan. Care was taken at present to make careful inquiries. There were few of these licences being now issued.

Mr. C. F. Davie said there was no complaint from Duncan along this line.

BULB GROWERS ARE ORGANIZED

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED AT ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT SIDNEY

Independent Committee Appointed to Specially Look Into Market-Growing Possibilities

SIDNEY, March 8.—On Wednesday evening a meeting of those interested in bulb and flower growing was held in Wesley Hall. The meeting was the outcome of two former meetings held with the idea of forming a North Saanich Horticultural Society.

Mr. A. McDonald acted as chairman for the evening, and introduced Mr. P. R. Leighton, secretary of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society, who addressed the meeting briefly on the aims and objects of the Horticultural Society. He explained that the society educates its members in the arts of better gardening through the method of weekly meetings and frequent lectures. They strive to increase the beauty and usefulness of gardens, and to increase the number of gardens in their district. To stimulate interest, garden competitions and flower shows are conducted.

He outlined the methods of organizing a horticultural society. It could have a very loose organization, with a small membership fee, the membership to be open to all. There should be no difference made between an amateur and a professional gardener. He suggested that lectures be held, and garden competitions begun and that the winning garden of each organization could compete against the Island. He stressed the great benefit of such a society to a district.

His suggestions to the society were that the broadest principles be used, and an executive committe be elected to carry out the business.

The meeting decided to organize along these lines, and to work to increase the beauty, usefulness and number of gardens, and to endeavor to find a method for exterminating various diseases of plants, and insect pests for the welfare of the organization.

A discussion followed, after which the election of officers took place, which resulted as follows: President, Mr. Taylor; vice-president, Mrs. J. J. White; secretary, Mrs. Hammond; treasurer, Mr. A. McDonald. The executive committee elected was as follows: Mr. Toomer, Mr. White, Mrs. Baston, Mr. Thornley and Mrs. Harrison.

It was decided to make an entry in the flower show to be held on April 27-28, and a committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

An independent committee was elected to look into the special line of bulb growing and flower raising for the market.

The next meeting will be held in Wesley Hall on Wednesday evening, March 28, and all those who desire to join the North Saanich Horticultural Society are cordially invited to attend.

Many parents and friends who take an interest in the Girl Guide movement were present. It is interesting to note that Tofino is probably the most westerly Brownie pack in the Empire. After the ceremony the Brownies gave some songs and recitations, closing with the National Anthem, after which tea was served to the guests with the assistance of the Girl Guides.

GIVES TALK ON CHINA MISSIONS

Young People of Keating and Sidney Enjoy Interesting Evening's Entertainment

KEATING, March 8.—A very pleasant evening's entertainment was enjoyed on Tuesday when, after its regular business meeting held in the South Saanich United Church, the Young People's Society had as its guests the members of the Sidney Young People's Society. A most absorbing talk on China, illustrated by lantern slides, was given by Rev. Bompas, of the First United Church, Victoria, who had charge of a mission in China for twelve years. The slides showed many industries, pastimes and religious scenes, which were explained in a most interesting manner by the speaker. He was assisted by Mr. Roy Heyer. Hearty thanks were accorded the speaker at the conclusion of his remarks.

At this time Miss Chrissie MacNab, on behalf of the members presented Miss Florence Hambly and Mr. J. Bosher, of Sidney, with suitable tokens of appreciation for their good-natured assistance during the recent presentations of the play "Safety First," by supplying music between acts, each of the five times it was played. Miss Hambly received a silver vanity case and Mr. Bosher a scarf. The latter suitably expressed their thanks.

Another pleasing incident took place when Mr. Albert Hafer, on behalf of the society, presented Mr. Heyer with a silver pen in appreciation of his help with, and interest in, the recent play. Mr. Heyer responded suitably.

Several hymns were sung during the evening and Miss Ida Heyer, accompanied by Miss Alma Heyer, sang in a very pleasing manner. The playing of charades and a musical contest made up the remainder of the evening's programme, after which refreshments were served.

During the short business session which took place before the social Mr. Albert Hafer presided and several items of correspondence were read by the secretary, Miss Ida Heyer.

A communication was received from the Young People's Council, Victoria, stating that the Nanaimo Young People's Society had invited the council to hold the annual rally there this year. After a brief discussion Miss Chrissie MacNab, the council representative, was instructed to ask for more information on the subject at the council meeting on March 28.

Upon the invitation of Mr. McDonald the members will play ping pong with the Sidney young people at Sidney at some future date.

At the graveside the solemn rites of the Oddfellows' Lodge were performed by Chaplain J. Scott and Noble Grand F. Wood, a large number of members of the order being in attendance and participating in the ceremonies. The pallbearers were all fellow lodge members, as follows: Messrs. H. Thorneycroft, T.
